

Whites Demand Segregation In Public Schools

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Parents are picketing segregated schools in two West Virginia counties and there have been moves to set up "citizens' councils" to enforce segregation in Mississippi.

"The white people... are organizing to protect themselves," a Mississippi legislator said Thursday.

Mississippians soon will be voting on a constitutional amendment which could lead to abolition of the public school system.

Scholarships Revised

A member of one of the councils, refusing to be quoted by name, declared: "We want the people assured that there is responsible leadership which will and can handle local segregation problems. If that is recognized, there will be no cause for any hot-headed bunch to start a Ku Klux Klan. If we fail, though, the temper of the public may produce something like the Klan."

The Mississippi Legislature passed a bill Thursday designed to guard against Negro suits forcing admission to the University of Mississippi Medical School. The legislators recently abolished out-of-state medical scholarships to Mississippi students. New scholarships to be given to the University of Mississippi school, now under construction.

Fearing that Negroes might try to force admission to the school because no other facility is made available to them, the legislators voted Thursday to continue scholarships for Mississippi Negro students to attend Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn., a Negro institution.

Goos To Voters

At the same time the Mississippi House passed on a second reading the constitutional amendment to abolish public schools. The amendment is virtually assured of passage. It must be passed on a third reading and, after almost certain Senate approval, would be submitted to the voters in a Dec. 21 referendum.

In two West Virginia counties Thursday parents protested the racial integration of school children.

A picket line was set up at the combined high and elementary school at Rupert in Greenbrier County, where 12 Negroes have been attending classes since the school opened Tuesday. And mothers of some white students in Marion County turned out to protest the admission of 13 Negro students.

Supt. J. J. Straight of the Marion schools said many of the parents kept their children away from school.

Segregation was ended in many West Virginia counties soon after the U.S. Supreme Court held that public school segregation is unconstitutional.

Issue In Georgia

In Washington, a move to hold up racial integration in the District of Columbia's public schools was blocked by U.S. District Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut. He denied a plea submitted by the Federation of Citizens' Assn., an all-white group.

Georgia's new governor-designate, a protégé of Gov. Herman Talmadge, declared Thursday, he will campaign for passage of the Talmadge - sponsored "private school" amendment, similar to Mississippi's measure.

Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin, nominated Wednesday in a landslide, said he will plug for the amendment as "insurance" to help preserve school segregation. Behind the plan is a proposal to convert public schools to "private" schools if necessary to maintain segregation.

Flagpole Stander At Detroit Fair Claims New Record

DETROIT (AP) — Dixie Blandy, a 51-year-old professional flagpole stander, slid down from his perch above the Michigan State Fair Thursday, his angles swollen twice their regular size, and proudly announced he had broken a record.

He claimed the 237 hours and 35 minutes he stood on top of the pole was a new world's record, breaking his old one of 192 hours set in Milwaukee in 1952.

He was paid $1,000 for his efforts and departed for a hospital to get treatment for his ankles.

Represents Michigan

LANSING (AP) — State Sen. George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) has been appointed by Gov. Williams to represent Michigan in a four-day conference of the National Tax Assn. in Bretton Woods, N. H., beginning Sept. 26. Higgins was the author of Michigan's $32,000,000 a year business receipts tax.

Republicans Will Urge Eisenhower To Visit Michigan

LANSING (AP) — Republicans made a new attempt today to get President Eisenhower to come to Michigan during the fall political campaigns.

John Feikens, Republican state chairman, went to Denver to confer with the President and lay before him "the full facts about the campaign situation in Michigan."

Feikens said he planned to point out to Eisenhower the "realities" of the situation, declaring that Democrats have pledged $1,200,000, for political wars.

He said the State Central Committee is raising $200,000, the CIO Political Action Committee $700,000 and the AFL Labor's League for Political Education, $300,000, plus Gov. Williams' own newly organized personal fund raising program.

"They must be rolling in wealth," Feikens said, "or they couldn't buy a half-hour statewide television show to start the governor's campaign. We couldn't do it—they can. Feikens said the Democrats 'shudder' when they think of the President coming to Michigan to speak during the campaign. "They are trying desperately to keep him out if they can and to get into the act when he does come," he said.

This was a reference to Gov. Williams' announcement that the White House told him that the President did not intend to come to Michigan this fall.

Williams had invited Eisenhower to discuss unemployment if he comes to Michigan.

Democrat Leaders Back Harriman For New York Governor

NEW YORK (AP) — Four of New York State's leading Democrats have formally endorsed Averell Harriman for the party's nomination for governor.

All may not be clear sailing for the millionaire New Deal-Fair Deal stalwart, however, because some powerful backers of Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. threaten a floor fight at the Democratic State Convention.

But the leaders' endorsement probably has assured Harriman of a majority of the delegates.

Ives Sure GOP Choice

A statement backing Harriman was issued late Thursday by Democratic State Chairman Richard H.

Balch and Democratic National Committeeman Carmine G. DeSapio, who also is leader of Tammany Hall, the Manhattan party organization.

The statement bore the inscription that it was "concurrent" by Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, who is vacationing in Idaho, and New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

The statement was issued at Democratic State Headquarters after several top party leaders had failed in private efforts to persuade Roosevelt, the only other active contender, to bow out in favor of Harriman.

No Republican opposition developed against U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives who has been tabbed for that party's gubernatorial nomination by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and other GOP leaders. Nomination of the 58-year-old senator appeared certain.

Magic In Name?

Roosevelt told newsmen he had no comment on the Democratic leaders' declaration for Harriman.

Strong backing for Roosevelt came from two powerful upstate Democratic leaders.

Daniel P. O'Connell, Albany leader, said the Albany County convention delegation, would "put Roosevelt in nomination and vote for him and nothing will stop us."

William B. Mahoney, Erie County (Buffalo) leader, said: "When the Roosevelt name hits the convention floor, no single group of leaders in New York City will be able to stop the nomination of F.D.R. Jr."

New York City's votes make up a majority of the 1,018 votes in the convention, where 510 are needed for nomination.

The Democratic State Convention will open in New York Sept. 21, and the Republican convention in Syracuse the following day.

Cashman described the trip as "wonderful all around." His wife, Mildred, helped with the preparations but she called it "ridiculous-crazy."

State police, sharing Mrs. Cashman's view, charged him with being an unlicensed pilot, operating an unregistered aircraft, and operating an uncertificated aircraft.

He pleaded innocent before Peace Justice George Biesbee of Guiderland and a hearing was set for Sept. 17.

Hundreds watched goggle-eyed along the way as Cashman's contraption soared from suburban Westmere to a farm near Valatie, down the Hudson River.

Doctor For Every 730

CHICAGO (AP) — There are 220,000 physicians in the United States, a record rate of one for every 730 persons, says the American Medical Assn. The record was made possible, the AMA said, by the graduation this year of 6,861 new doctors. This proportion of physicians to inhabitants is exceeded only by Israel, which has a large number of refugee doctors, the AMA said.

McCarthy Offers Menominee-Frankfort Hot Document In Censure Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy finished testifying in his own defense against censure charges today, and won agreement from the special Senate hearing committee to examine the "hot document" of the McCarthy-Army dispute and decide whether it will be accepted as evidence.

Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) ordered a recess of the hearings until 1 p.m. (EDT). He said the committee would examine the paper meantime and announce when it reconvened whether it would admit the 24 page paper which has been gingerly handled by two Senate committees.

Cross-Examination Next

Also scheduled for the afternoon was the start of cross-examination of McCarthy who has been his own star defense witness. His counsel, Edward Bennett Williams, asked him only a couple of questions before the public session was called off today. Then he announced that McCarthy was ready for cross examination.

At a closed-door session just ahead of the brief open hearing the committee decided "at least to inspect" the controversial paper which McCarthy has been trying to get into the current case.

The disputed paper was brought out by McCarthy at the recent hearing on his dispute with Army officials, but members of the committee which investigated that quarrel refused even to look at it. And Atty. Gen. Brownell ruled it should not go on any public record.

No Illegal Secrets

McCarthy offered it at that time in support of his contention that his investigation of alleged Red infiltration at the Army's Ft. Monmouth, N.J., radar laboratory was needed. The paper purported to be a letter from the FBI to Army intelligence reporting on personnel at the laboratory.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said it was not a letter but contained accurate excerpts from a longer confidential FBI memorandum.

McCarthy is trying on the one hand to prove the 24 page document is "not spurious" and on the other that it does not contain secrets which might make his possession of it illegal. One of the censure charges against McCarthy is based on his possession and use of the paper.

McCarthy, who started to walk out of the hearing in a row with Watkins over his efforts to discuss the "FBI letter," contends there is nothing in it that would affect the nation's security if made public.

Paralysis Claims Boy Who Helped To Raise Polio Funds

EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (AP) — Ten-year-old Richard Messer is in the hospital with polio — just two weeks after he and a dozen pals staged a backyard circus to raise funds for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Charging 10 cents apiece for the entertainment, the youngsters collected $8.50, which they turned over to the local polio fund.

Richard became ill Sunday, and Thursday Meadowbrook Hospital diagnosed his case as polio and put him in an iron lung.

Gamma globulin shots will be given to all the children who attended the circus.

Jackson Prison Now Has 6,512 Inmates

JACKSON (AP) — There are more prisoners in Southern Michigan prisons than ever before, warden William H. Bannan announced today.

The total is 6,512. That's 31 more than the 6,481 at the time of the prison's riots in April, 1952.

Bannan said 300 more men have been assigned to farms, camps and other trusty jobs than before, alleviating the overcrowding of cell blocks.

Clawing, Biting, Dallas Boy, 9, Dies Of Rabies After Dog Bite

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A 9-year-old boy died from rabies today only hours after he was admitted to Parkland Hospital, clawing, biting and spitting.

The child was Ben Earl Ivery, the youngest of nine children of Mrs. Vessie Ivery.

The boy was first taken to Parkland July 18 after he was bitten by a stray dog, but his case was not diagnosed as rabies until Thursday, the mother said.

Parkland attendants said it took three doctors and two nurses to subdue the violently ill child so that anaesthetists could put him to sleep for a blood specimen. A young woman doctor must take rabies serum because of a scratch she received while helping with the patient.

Police Notified

Parkland doctors said they knew of no record of a victim recovering after an advanced case of rabies.

Ben Earl was the second Dallas child to die with rabies this summer. Jody Allene Brown, 3, died a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Ivery said the boy was bitten while playing under the family home with the dog. "I called police when it happened," the mother said. "Then I took the boy to Parkland where police talked with us."

Hundreds Buried Alive In Ruins At Orleansville

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — The earth still trembled at Orleansville today, more than 24 hours after the disastrous earthquake that wreaked a death toll estimated at more than 1,000 Europeans and Algerians.

Another 2,000 were believed hurt. Shocks less violent than the first were felt five times Thursday night and this morning. One lasted several seconds, bringing down unsteady houses and great pieces of shattered walls. Blasted buildings in the heart of the town were crumbling into the streets.

Housed In Tents

There were 2,000 rescue workers and as many more troops, on the spot about 100 miles west of Algiers. The French army, which rushed all available troops and ambulances to the area, also sent four bulldozers and eight big water tanks, along with eight tons of bread and other food, 50 field kitchens and 35 cooks to man them.

The mayor of the city was quoted as saying:

"We've had to evacuate 95 per cent of the houses, but we won't evacuate the town. We're going to put everybody into tents."

Casualty estimates were made more difficult by the fact that many Moslems were burying their own dead without sending in any report.

The French Interior Ministry said Thursday night 396 deaths have been confirmed officially, but that most of them appeared to be European residents of the area. They said an accurate accounting of the quake toll will take many days.

Crushed By Masonry

With railways cut and many highways impassable, aid was flown in from Algiers and Oran.

Many able-bodied survivors were reported fleeing from Orleansville and the stricken villages. They traveled by horse, bicycle or afoot, carrying a few possessions.

The quake hit just after 1 a.m. Thursday with a 12-second tremor which toppled even Orleansville's most modern structure — a nine-story building — like a crushed of matches.

People who were not crushed in their beds ran terrified into the streets, where many of them were felled by crashing masonry.

In Orleansville, a prison holding 120 men — some of them Tunisian rebels confined there by the French — was demolished. How many prisoners managed to escape was not known.

Hotel Guests Trapped

Some forty guests in Orleansville's Hotel Baudouin were reported buried alive when the building collapsed.

The village of Vauban, 15 miles east of Orleansville, was reported wiped out — the fate of its 2,000 residents unknown. Three other villages in that area also were badly hit — Miliana, Duperre and Rouina.

Orleansville, a modern city built by French colonists in 1843 on ancient Roman ruins, had 32,500 inhabitants. About 6,000 of them were Europeans, the rest native Algerian Moslems. The city is a vital trade center for the rich farming area that surrounds it.

Population Of U. S. Grows 2,782,000 In Year To 162,670,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau today estimated the nation's population on Aug. 1 at 162,670,000, including armed forces overseas.

That was a growth of 2,782,000, or 1.7 per cent, in a year.

The population at the beginning of August this year was 15,338,000 or 7.6 per cent, greater than on April 1, 1950, the date of the last census.

Ingred's Former Husband Marries

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dr. Peter Lindstrom, ex-husband of actress Ingrid Bergman, is honeymooning today with his second wife, Dr. Agnes J. Rovnanek.

The 48-year-old neurosurgeon and his 26-year-old bride were married Thursday night by Bishop Austin Pardue of the Pittsburgh Episcopal Diocese.

Dr. Rovnanek, a native of Czechoslovakia, is in his second year as a resident pediatrician at Children's Hospital. Dr. Lindstrom has been chief of neuro-surgery at the Veterans Administration Hospital in suburban Aspinwall.

Only a few close friends attended the wedding at the Church of the Redeemer. Among those present was 15-year-old Jenny Ann Lindstrom, daughter of Dr. Lindstrom and Miss Bergman.

Dr. Lindstrom divorced Miss Bergman in 1949 after her highly publicized romance with Italian film director Roberto Rossellini, whom she subsequently married.

Southeast Asia Defense Looks Good On Paper

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new agreement among the United States and seven partners to defend Southeast Asia against any Communist attacks looks nice on paper. It has been called a triumph of American foreign policy. It has also been shrugged off as weak.

May Add More Later

This is one agreement whose effectiveness depends entirely upon how well the eight nations which signed it—the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Pakistan, and Thailand — want it to work.

It could be stronger. But, if it were, the Senate might balk. It could include more members—such as Japan, Nationalist China, South Korea—but they may be added later.

First reaction after reading this agreement signed at Manila Wednesday might be: "We'll see how much it means the first time the Chinese Communists put it to a test." But the Chinese may be afraid to test it, fearing that the United States might then go to war in Asia.

The agreement will have proved a success if, without a shot being fired, it deters the Communists from aggression.

Help One Another

In Europe the Russians have not moved since 1949 when the Western Allies—including the United States, Britain, France—set up NATO, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The 14 NATO members are pledged to help one another automatically in case any of them is attacked.

The Manila agreement—called the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty—doesn't go as far as NATO. The eight partners agreed only to "act to meet the common danger in accordance" with each member's "constitutional processes." That looks like a wide-open escape hatch.

Presumably this language means the American President and Congress and the governments of the other seven partners would make their own decisions on whether to get into war in Asia.

The Manila treaty, signed by the eight foreign ministers, won't be in force until all the governments ratify it. Secretary of State Dulles could probably get this kind of a treaty through the Senate, but not one as strong as NATO.

Only two of the Manila signers—Pakistan and Thailand—are nations on the continent of Asia. Conspicuously absent were India, Burma, Indonesia and Ceylon. Their absence leaves a large gap in any arrangements the eight partners may make for the military defense of Southeast Asia.

Also absent are Japan, South Korea and the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa, although the United States has special arrangements with each of them. All are far more capable of making a military contribution to the new alliance than is little Thailand.

These three may be brought in later, if some obstructions are overcome. For instance, Britain recognizes the Chinese Communists as the legitimate government of China. With the United States it is just the other way around. It recognizes only Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists on Formosa.

But this treaty goes beyond a military alliance. It talks of independence for peoples in the area as soon as possible. It promises economic help. In short, it takes a step forward in giving the people of Southeast Asia some solid reasons for lining up with the West instead of Red China.

Proposed Contract:

Alger-Delta Offers City Low Power Rate And Will Build Plant In Escanaba

Escanaba City Council in special meeting last night received from the Alger-Delta Cooperative Electric Association of Gladstone a revised power contract proposal offering:

1. To build a $4,350,000 electric generating plant in Escanaba.

2. Supply the city with "excess capacity" electric power for a period of 10 years.

3. To charge the city a rate whose average cost during the contract period (based on Escanaba's forecast of consumption) would be 1.06 cents per kilowatt hour.

Following discussion the proposed contract and a letter of transmittal from the Cooperative were referred to the Council's power advisory committee for study and report.

Contract Features

Robert Losse, chairman of the power advisory committee, said the committee will make its study and report as quickly as possible.

Principal features of the proposed contract offered by Alger-Delta are as follows:

The proposed generating plant to be built in the city would begin operating in 1956. It would have two generating units with a combined nameplate production rating of 15,000 kilowatts.

The rates to be charged the city "are as close to cost as it is possible to estimate." Should the income to the Cooperative under the contract exceed the cost, excess of cost would accrue to the benefit of the city.

Mutual Benefits

Through a contract with Upper Michigan Power & Light Company emergency reserve capacity of 8,000 kilowatts will be provided, and additional interconnections are planned by the Cooperative.

Should the load growth of the city indicate the Cooperative's capacity will be inadequate to serve the city, the contract can be terminated. Joint planning to increase capacity when the need arises is provided for in the contract.

Mutual advantages to the city and to the Cooperative were cited by Wynand Nieuwenkamp, Alger-Delta manager, and Max Stanley.

Muscantine, Iowa, consulting engineer for the Cooperative. The proposed contract has mutual advantages to both parties they said.

"It provides, both now and in the future, the opportunity for obtaining a dependable and economical power supply for the area with all the resulting benefits and under the control of local interests," the Council was advised.

Cite Advantages

Alger-Delta cited advantages to the city as follows:

1—Dependable service: "Firm power" would be provided for the city's load until it exceeds 9,500 to 10,000 kilowatts. This capacity is very nearly two times as great as the highest peak yet reached by the city.

2—Low cost power: Average power cost to the city for the period of the contract is estimated at 1.06 cents per kilowatt hour.

3—City retains distribution system: Acceptance of the Alger-Delta proposal makes it possible for the city to retain its electrical distribution system and profit therefrom. Profit to the city from continued operation of its distribution system for the 10-year period of the proposed contract is estimated at between $2,550,000 and $2,500,000. Such continued profits to the city "will avoid a tax increase which may otherwise be necessary."

Acceptance of the proposed Alger-Delta contract would also eliminate the need for the city to construct its own municipal power plant; provide for a future expansion of capacity with the cooperation of the city; increase employment and business for Escanaba and for the entire area; and payment of state, county and school taxes.

Would Work Together

No city taxes would be paid under the proposed agreement. City taxes would be refunded the Cooperative to attain the low power rate offered.

In summary Alger-Delta advised the Council:

"In conclusion we submit that the proposal of the Cooperative offers an outstanding and unique opportunity for the City of Escanaba and the Cooperative to, by working together, develop an economical, dependable power supply that both need for the distribution systems.

"At the start the Cooperative provides additional generating facilities, which with the reserve available from Upper Michigan Power and Light Company will meet the combined requirements of the City and the Cooperative for a number of years.

"When loads grow to the point that the facilities are inadequate, the City may supplement the generating facilities of the Cooperative with a single unit plant. This, with continued pooling of reserves and suitable adjustment in operating arrangements between the two organizations, will extend the period of economical and dependable power supply."

Big Bear Lurks In Vicinity Of Farms; Appears In Daylight

ROCK — Becoming bolder, a big black bear that has frequented the farming area west of Rock, is now appearing in daylight and farmers are taking precautions against the animal attacking their families or their livestock.

Although neighbors had reported a bear in the vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jacks got a good look at the big brute in broad daylight Wednesday afternoon. The bear was in a ditch by the driveway, preparing to cross the road into Sulo Pajula's yard.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacks drove their car to within 20 feet of the bear before it ran. The bear stopped several times to look back before disappearing into the woods. They described the bear as a large animal with huge head and shoulders.

Signs of the bear had been found in the apple orchard, which it visited every night. Last spring Jacks shot a sick cow and before he could bury the animal a bear hauled the carcass away from behind the barn and into the woods. The cow weighed about 1,200 pounds.

This summer the cows refused to enter the woods to drink from the creek, as they had done in the past, and the Jacks suspected the bear was lurking there. Only advantage in the bear being in the

Rain General In Wide Area

General precipitation over the upper Great Lakes region caused by a low pressure system is expected to break off early today. Scattered showers and cloudy skies will probably continue throughout the day but no general rain is expected. Cool air following in the wake of the rains may clear this area today and bring it lower temperatures. The high for today and Saturday will be 60 with a low of 48 during the night near the lake and readings in the low 40's inland. Temperatures at Escanaba Thursday were representative of the whole U. P. where the range was very narrow. Escanaba had a high of 58 and a low of 54.

Some high temperatures still exist throughout the nation but the belt of record high readings has been wiped out. It was 110 at Gila Bend, Ariz. Thursday while Big Piney, Wyo. got up to 29 which was 5 degrees warmer than the day before.

Hurricane Edna is moving along the Carolina coast producing high tides and winds of gale force as far as southern New England. Unless a high pressure area builds up over the New England area, the hurricane may possibly follow the same course as the one which hit New England last week.

Five persons sustained minor injuries last night in an automobile accident at the intersection of US-2 and US-41 at Rapid River at 9:45.

Injured were: Judy Beauchamp, 18, of 1224 11th Ave. S., Escanaba, knee injuries and bruises; Barbara Beauchamp, 18, same address, ankle injury; Shirley Dubord, 18, of 1518 1st Ave. S., Escanaba, bruises; Mrs. Naola Eaton, 28, of Trenary, head bruises, and her two year old daughter, Elizabeth, bruises and lacerations of the head.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Judy Beauchamp ran into a car driven by Gordon F. Holmquist, Trenary. The Holmquist car was turning north off US-2 onto US-41. The car driven by Miss Beauchamp was traveling in the same direction. Miss Beauchamp failed to notice Holmquist signalling for the turn, police reported. Miss Beauchamp was ticketed for failure to stop within the assured clear distance ahead.

Researcher Links Smoking To Cancer

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON — A government researcher said today heavy cigarette smokers now 40 years old have from 5 to 15 times greater a chance than nonsmokers of developing lung cancer before they are 80.

He is Sidney J. Cutler, staff statistician at the National Cancer Institute at nearby Bethesda, Md. Cutler's paper was one of several, dealing with relationships between cigarette smoking and cancer cases, prepared for the International Congress of Pathology, a conference on the causes of disease which is being attended by specialists from many parts of the world.

Evidence Not Conclusive

The American Cancer Society announced last June that one of its studies showed that cigarette smokers 50 to 70 years old died earlier, in groups that were studied, than other men. But many scientists have said there is no conclusive evidence that cigarettes themselves bring on cancer.

The tobacco industry has said more study is needed to determine causes of cancer and heart disease, and has set up an industry study committee, headed by Dr. Clarence Cook Little.

Little has said he subscribed to a statement that "one cannot at this time exclude the possibility that heavy cigarette smoking and the tendency to cancer are both expressions of a more fundamental cause of a constitutional or hormone nature."

Dr. Johannes Clemmesen of the Danish Cancer Registry, Copenhagen, in a statement prepared for today's meeting, said:

"It appears that there is a distinct correlation between the number of cigarettes consumed in the various countries . . . and the height of their national mortality from lung cancer."

Dr. Nils Ringertz of Sabbateberg Hospital, Stockholm, said it is doubtful if such things as air pollution by smoke and similar substances are important factors, on a worldwide basis, in the rise in lung cancer deaths.

Mortality Increases

He added "there is strong but so far not quite complete evidence that tobacco smoking, especially cigarette smoking, is the most important exogenous (external) factor causing the main part of the lung cancer cases."

Another panel speaker, Pao Chang-hou of Hong Kong, said in his statement that clinical evidence and work with mice have not proved a relationship between tobacco and cancer.

Cutler noted that during the past 20 years the reported mortality from lung cancer in the United States has increased by 400 per cent. He said his statistical studies show these prospects faced by men now 40 years old of reaching age 80 without suffering lung cancer:

Nonsmokers — 6 men out of 1,000 will suffer lung cancer.

Light smokers (up to 1/2 pack of cigarettes a day) — 25 in 1,000 will get lung cancer.

Those smoking about one pack a day — 49 out of 1,000 will get lung cancer.

More than one pack a day — 80 out of 1,000 men will get lung cancer.

Gylock Is Bound To Circuit Court

Charles Gylock, 31, of 314 S. 10th St., waived examination when arraigned in Justice Caroline A. Nystrom's court yesterday afternoon on a charge of breaking and entering in the night time and was bound to circuit court for trial.

In default of $2,000 bond Gylock was returned to jail until court convenes later this month.

Escanaba police arrested Gylock following an investigation of the breaking and entering of the Turner Bicycle Shop, 903 Ludington, the night of Sept. 5 and the larceny of one rifle, one shot gun and about $30 in silver. Entry was made by cutting the glass in a rear window.

The two guns were recovered by police following Gylock's arrest last Tuesday morning.

Stang Driver Hurt In Mishap

A 50-year-old driver for the Stang Tank Line, Gladstone is in St. Francis Hospital with injuries he suffered when his truck overturned Tuesday night on highway M-28 near the town of Kenton in Houghton county. The injured man, Roy Fraid, N. 17th St., was taken to the Divine Infant of Prague Hospital in Wakefield for emergency treatment following the accident, and removed by ambulance to Escanaba late Wednesday. His injuries include four fractured ribs, a fractured arm and lacerations about the head.

Details of the accident are lacking because there were no witnesses and due to the nature of Fraid's injuries he has been unable to talk. At the time of the accident he was driving a semi tractor and tank trailer loaded with 5,500 gallons of fuel oil. The truck and load were a complete loss. Although the tank was punctured and all the oil drained out there was no fire. It was estimated that it would cost about $19,000 to replace the truck.

Two Plead Guilty To Gun Violation

Two men pleaded guilty to a charge of transporting an uncase rifle in an automobile and were each fined $25 and costs of $7.80, when arraigned before Justice A. T. Sohlberg in Gladstone this morning. The men, Lyle Boggs, Pine Ridge, and Clifford Lauderdale, Zillwaukee, were arrested in Masonville township this morning by conservation officers Glen Price and Chester Van Wieran. The gun, a .22 caliber rifle, which belongs to his brother, Lauderdale told the Conservation officers, and a hunting knife, have been confiscated and will not be returned until the fines are paid.

New Marinette Station Offers TV Viewers Here New Selection

A new television station, WMBV, Marinette, goes into operation tonight on Channel 11, providing viewers in this area with another selection for their television receivers.

Television is a fast growing industry. It is a comparatively new field of entertainment and its acceptance by the public is warm and generous.

Television, like radio, covers a rather wide field of activities. It is not, as many people may believe, a direct competitor of newspapers. It is primarily an entertainment medium. It cannot and does not attempt to provide the extensive news coverage that newspapers do. Television stations, like radio stations, command their greatest viewing and listening audiences when they perform the service that they are best equipped to do—entertain.

Because television signals primarily are transmitted in a straight line, the distance at which they may provide so-called primary coverage is comparatively small. Escanaba is a fringe area for the closest of existing TV stations, including Marinette. However, the signal reception from both Green Bay and Marinette in the Escanaba area is such as to provide reasonably good reception most of the time and excellent reception some of the time.

The development of the new Marinette station is particularly welcome to TV fans in the Escanaba area. WBAY-TV, Green Bay, is a CBS outlet. WMBV at Marinette will be a NBC outlet, providing viewers in this area with a whole new selection of fine programs. WTMJ-TV, Milwaukee, also is an NBC outlet, but the distance separating this area from Milwaukee is such as to make WTMJ-TV reception here unreliable. In the winter months, the Milwaukee signal is lost most of the time in the Escanaba area.

WMBV-TV goes on the air with authorized power of 115,000 watts on Channel 11, transmitted from an antenna approximately 500 feet in the air. It is no secret that WMBV will seek authority to increase its power and to transmit from a higher tower at the earliest possible time. When and if this development occurs, the Marinette signal strength in the Escanaba area will, of course, improve proportionately.

We welcome WMBV-TV into our area and into our homes.

Congratulations, Queen Margaret!

TO Margaret Mackrain, the personable and beautiful Chassell lass who won the title of queen of the Michigan State Fair, hearty congratulations.

Miss Mackrain, who first gained peninsula-wide acclaim in winning the title of Upper Peninsula State Fair queen, is the first Upper Peninsula girl to win the queen's contest in state competition at the Detroit fair.

Her selection, in a field of 27 other beauties from all parts of the Lower Peninsula, provides proof positive that the Upper Peninsula produces a luscious crop of feminine pulchritude as well as the state's best potatoes.

We think the judges at the Michigan State Fair made an excellent selection and we compliment them, too, on their ability to recognize real beauty and real character.

Today And Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Now that E. D. C. has failed, what ought we to be thinking about in our reappraisal? We should, I believe, grasp the nettle, and we should face up to the crucial problem—for which E. D. C. had no answer—of how Germany is to be reunified without war and without a deal with the Soviet Union at the expense of the West.

This is the real problem of German sovereignty. How sovereign is West Germany to be in negotiating German reunification? This also is the real problem of German rearmament. What will be the final allegiance of the German divisions and their officers? It is these unanswered questions which are raising the danger of what Dr. Adenauer has called "exaggerated nationalism." We need have no doubt that the nationalism of the Germans, as of any other people, is sure to become exaggerated if national unity is too long denied to them.

The theory of E. D. C. was that if the West Germans were armed within a European army, the officer corps would be bound by their oaths and by their training to the Western alliance. The Bonn government, supported by this army, would be strong enough to resist the tempting offers of unity, evacuation, and trade which Moscow has the power to make.

PREVENT UNIFICATION

The trouble with the theory was that E. D. C. contained no plan of its own to reunite Germany. E. D. C. was, therefore, open to the charge, which was widely made in Germany, that it would prevent the unification of Germany. And any plan that did that would be bound in the course of time to arouse Nationalist German resistance.

It has always been highly improbable that Dr. Adenauer, who presides over only a part of Germany, could in fact commit the whole German nation to E. D. C. Probably he could not have committed even West Germany beyond the time when the Soviet Union chose to make a serious offer of reunification. At the Berlin conference last winter this was officially recognized by the three Western Foreign Ministers, Bidault, Eden, and Dulles. They agreed that united Germany would not be bound by the act of Bonn government in joining E. D. C., that united Germany would have a free choice.

Since then there has been no ground for saying that E. D. C. was a project of European union and of a Franco-German partnership. E. D. C. was an arrangement for the provisional control of a rearmament Germany—an arrangement for the provisional control of a rearmament Germany—an arrangement biding upon the Germans until but not after the Soviet Union agreed to acceptable terms of reunification. The whole project was, therefore, at the mercy of Soviet diplomacy, having no legal or practical force except while Germany remains divided. This was a precarious foundation for "Europe." The largest member might at any moment have to choose between its own national unity and the unity of the Western continent.

FOR REARMAMENT

The crucial fact is that as long as Germany is divided, everything that is arranged for Germany is provisional. The twelve German divisions can be attached only provisionally to the Western military system. Nobody in Bonn has the power, legal and practical, to attach them—as are the British, the French and the American forces—for a long term of years. There are many compelling arguments for a moderate German rearmament. They are all of them essentially political. The strongest argument for rearming these troops is not the naive notion—naïve in the atomic age—that they will defend the West against the Red army. It is that they will greatly augment the bargaining power of the Bonn government in negotiating about German reunification.

A reappraisal along these lines is a troublesome one in all the Western capitals. For the fact of the matter is that the Western military and diplomatic structure will require some very considerable changes when Germany is reunited. The existing structure is adapted to a divided Germany. That is its present strength and its future weakness. For no one knows what the government of the united Germany will be like. But what we do know is that the Germans are too great a people to accept partition and to settle down to it as their permanent condition.

Of the various solutions of the problem which have thus far been suggested, the most promising it seems to me is that of a special treaty between a sovereign West German state, and the five NATO powers which were to have been in E. D. C. plus the three other NATO powers, Britain, Canada and the United States which are in the occupation. This treaty could deal with the size, the armaments, the deployment, the high command, the adherence of the German army to NATO, and it could have political clauses governing the negotiation of a treaty with the Soviet Union restoring German unity.

Mountain Folk Buy Their TV Shows On Community Antenna

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

POTTSVILLE, Pa. —(NEA) — How would you like to buy television service in the same manner you purchase electricity, gas, heat or telephone service?

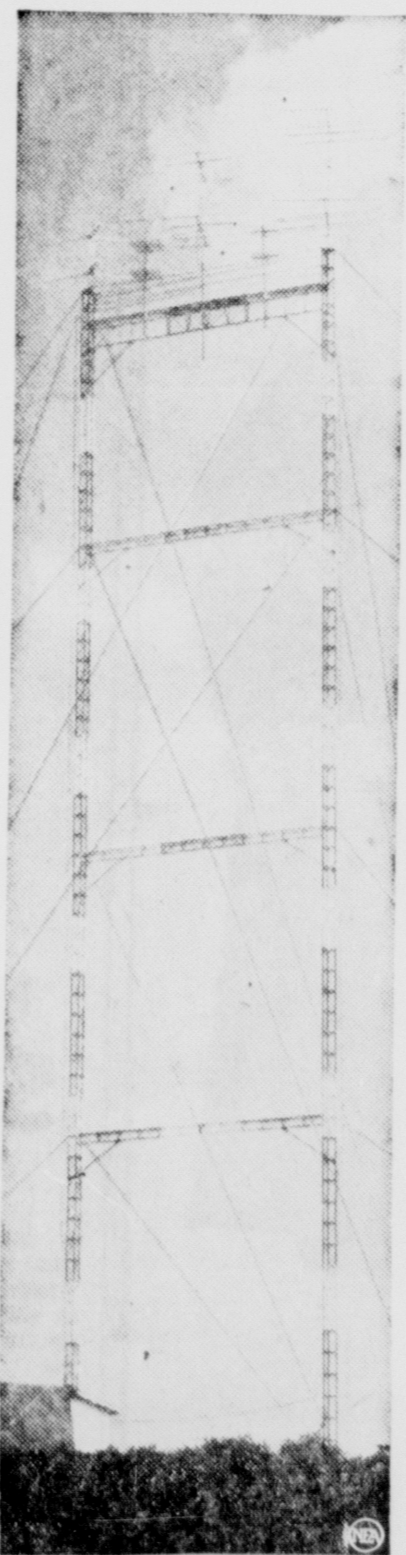

Sound strange? It's not to more than 3,000,000 families in mountainous or rural areas throughout America who already buy their television service that way—via community antenna systems—and find it quite satisfactory.

These folks have found that the community antenna system solves their television problem. Otherwise, they would have to settle for extremely poor pictures or perhaps none at all.

Although the idea is little more than three years old, there are now more than 300 television cable systems in operation throughout the United States. They serve from 50 to 5,000 customers.

Variety, the show business weekly, estimates the community antenna units now do a $12,000,000 business and they're growing in leaps and bounds.

The greatest concentration of community systems can be found in the mountain and rural sections of Pennsylvania, but similar units are also operating in California, Kentucky, Wyoming, New Hampshire, Texas, Colorado and many other areas blocked out by mountains or distant from existing stations.

COMMUNITY ANTENNA on 200-foot mountain brings TV to the Wilkes-Barre area.

There are also systems in Canada, Hawaii and South America. A new type unit is now being constructed in Santa Cruz, Calif., RCA reports.

Typical of the community operations is the one conducted in Pottsville, a city of 23,000. Because the majority of the homes are at the base or on the side of mountains which rim the city, television service was an extremely difficult problem for residents until a few years ago.

Today more than 3500 families in this section get television service through the community antenna. Only a few houses have the outside television aerials seen on millions of rooftops from coast-to-coast.

A 150-foot tower atop Sharp Mountain, a high point just south of the city, does the work of the home aerials. A powerful master antenna picks up signals from Philadelphia stations, 90 miles away, and New York, 130 miles distant, converts them and sends them along to viewers at home.

More than 90 per cent of the city is wired on existing utility lines with coaxial cable which carries the television signal. A new customer can join the system within a matter of hours after signing up. Charges vary in each community, but subscribers pay an average installation fee of $125 and from $2 to $4 monthly to get television programs. The home set is connected in almost the same fashion as a telephone outlet.

The community system began first in 1951 at Lansford, a coal mining town in the Panther Valley some 20 miles east of here. Local residents wanted TV service but couldn't get it because of their poor location. A community system was organized, proved successful and a new business was born.

Most systems pick up three to four stations, including VHF and UHF outlets. Location of the master antenna may vary. In Laconia, N. H., the tower is seven miles distant from the nearest customer.

Community systems are not under the jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission, and a Canadian court ruled recently that there is nothing illegal in a system picking up a live telecast and feeding it to customers.

Martin F. Malarkey Jr., a young business man who heads up the community operation here and is also president of the National Community Television Association, said the method solves the problem of communities plagued with poor TV service because of location and distance.

"Community systems have brought good television to people who otherwise couldn't get it," Malarkey said. "And we're ready for color when it comes, too," he added.

But the helicopter is not without its converts. The Duke of Edinburgh is sold on it, flies all over England in hover planes, taking off from the grounds of Buckingham Palace.

Enthusiasts predict that by 1958 a helicopter service between London and Paris, Amsterdam, Brussels will be in operation using 30-passenger, twin-engine American Sikorsky S-56's with a speed of 110 mph.

But for those who work and live along the Thames the news is bad. By next spring helicopters will be flying past the House of Commons 16 times a day, causing 16 interruptions of the nation's business.

Furthermore, the helicopters of the future will be bigger and noisier, due to increased power delivered at take-off and landing through jets at the tips of the rotor-blades.

As if the future were not black enough, there have been hints that advertisers would like to hover over the roof-tops to urge a captive audience to "Use Snibbo."

And politicians. The day is not far distant when a politician may have himself lowered in a golden chair to a point just out of tomato range to harangue the voters, a practice already put to use by some U. S. candidates.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

INTERNATIONAL SERVICE—Taking a cue from the Iron Mountain Rotary Club, the Escanaba Rotary Club this summer sponsored the visit here of a foreign student—a young man from Paris, France, Pierre Brohan.

Pierre was, therefore, an experiment in international understanding. It was reciprocal, for Pierre learned much about America and Americans during a seven-week stay in this community that included many side-trips to places of interest in the Upper Peninsula.

Over at Iron Mountain the Rotary Club has said farewell to its foreign guest student, Panu K. T. Suominen of Finland. He is returning to resume his studies at the University of Helsinki.

The young men from France and Finland represent the growing number of students who are being encouraged to visit the United States through Rotary sponsorship, to observe Americans and their ways, and to understand that the people of this country and of their country are indeed separated only by superficial barriers of language and custom.

It is indeed a truly international program, for Rotary also assists in financing American young men and women in studies in foreign countries, so that our world neighbors will come to know us better and—let us hope—like us.

COMPARISONS—Speaking to the Iron Mountain Rotary Club, the Finnish youth cited differences in customs and conditions between the United States and Finland for the purpose of displaying his new-found understanding of Americans.

His experiences in the United States had corrected some pre-visit misconceptions, said frankly.

He said that almost everyone in Europe knows that Americans have the highest standard of living in the world, but few realize how hard the Americans work to maintain that standard.

Wages in the United States are about 100 per cent higher, but prices are about 50 per cent higher than in his native Finland, he said. Business competition is much keener, resulting in more advertising than in his homeland, Suominen observed.

Americans can also buy on borrowed money, another factor favoring a higher standard of living, he said. In Europe all transactions are on a cash basis.

INFORMAL AMERICANS—The hard-working, high production, credit system is reflected in the general ownership of automobiles in the United States, Suominen said.

They have become a necessity to the average man and woman, whereas in Europe the automobile continues to be a luxury. The American transportation system is more advanced than in Europe, he noted.

"Because you, in the United States, work less hours for more money," he said, "more workers here own their own homes, have much more leisure time and consequently are more relaxed and informal."

Suominen was also impressed by the higher church attendance in America than in Europe. Americans go to church more often and in larger numbers, and from this he concludes that they are more religious.

Our schools? The teaching system is more advanced and the curriculum more practical than in Europe.

THE NATIVE'S RETURN—Pierre Brohan of France, Panu Suominen of Finland—soon they will be back among their friends and relatives in their native land.

What will they have to report of the United States and its people? Certainly their impressions will be most favorable, if they express themselves at home as they have to their host Rotary Clubs.

Americans are not Godless, our schools are better than those in Europe, our standard of living (even in this "rugged" Upper Peninsula) is far superior to that they have known, and we are a genuinely friendly and hospitable people.

What is the value of these international service projects in which Rotary cooperates? It should be needless to direct attention to the Communist threat in France, the proximity of Finland to Russia, the necessity that the United States win new friends to the cause of freedom.

Rotary International is dedicated to a world fellowship of men, and peace accomplished through understanding and good will. Foreign student sponsorship is a practical step in that direction.

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

Sacha Guitry, long time favorite of the Paris theatre, had a father, Lucien, who was equally famous in his day. Lucien, among other things, was noted for the perfection of his make-up for various of his starring roles. For example, he had a photo of Pasteur pasted on his mirror, and while visitors gaped, he would make up for the role, looking so exactly like the photo when he was finished that no one could detect any difference whatever. Nor was there any. For what the wily Guitry had done was to make himself up first as Pasteur, then have himself photographed,—then substitute the result on his mirror in place of the original!

The Doctor Says . . . Treatment of 'Clubfoot' Should Be Started Early

By EDWIN P. JORDAN M. D. — Written for NEA Service

When a child is born with a twisted foot, the condition is called "clubfoot." There are several ideas as to the cause of this condition, but actually no one knows all the answers.

One theory is that the clubfoot is the result of pressure and abnormal position of the foot inside the womb of the mother. Another is that it is caused by a failure to develop, probably before birth, and perhaps because of something inherited directly from the parents. At any rate an hereditary factor seems to be present in some though not all.

Older mothers have more chance of bearing a child with a clubfoot than do young mothers. Mothers who have had one child with a clubfoot or some other defect which is present at birth are a bit more likely to have children born later with similar deformities.

GERMAN MEASLES in the mother during the first three months of pregnancy increases the chance of having a child with some deformity, such as a clubfoot. Just how this happens is still rather uncertain, and it may be a long time before medical science can discover the reason.

All parts of the foot are affected in a clubfoot. The deformed foot is usually smaller than the normal foot. The heel is especially likely to be smaller and underdeveloped. Frequently, the foot is so twisted that all of the weight is carried either on the ball of the foot or even on what would normally be the top of the foot. The tendons and bones of the foot are consequently out of line.

IF A CLUBFOOT remains untreated the condition tends to become worse, largely because of the increased pressure from abnormal weight bearing.

In the simpler varieties of clubfoot, however, the foot can usually be restored to normal or near normal by proper treatment.

To get the best results, treatment should be begun early and continued for a long time, as there is danger of return or recurrence. When treatment is begun during the first six months of life there is a good chance of complete correction without operation.

IF THE CONDITION is severe or has not been almost completely cured, the youngster will become more and more conscious of years.

Under such circumstances, parents, brothers and sisters, and friends should use tact and understanding so that the child does not become too much disturbed about the problem and can be helped to adjust to any difficulties of locomotion or appearance.

Harris Opens Realty Office

An office of State Wide Real Estate Service, Inc., has been opened in Rapid River by Hugh A. Harris.

It is the 25th office of the corporation to be set up in Michigan. Other offices are at Detroit, Pontiac, Flint, Saginaw, West Branch, Bay City, Hellman, Cheboygan, Midland, Vassar, East Tawas, Alpena, Gaines, Ludington, Claire, Lake Station, Kalamazoo, Eastport, Baldwin, Houghton Lake, Muskegon, Lansing, Manton and Owosso.

Headquarters or the clearing house for 11 of the offices is in Detroit.

The corporation was founded by Harris, a native of Rapid River, who serves as its president. It specializes in business opportunities and carries approximately 2,000 listings, Mr. Harris states.

The Rapid River office will add to this resort properties, sites for summer cottages, hunting camps or fishing sites.

Harris, born and reared in Rapid River, later lived at Iron Mountain and Flint. Five years ago he fulfilled a desire to return to the Upper Peninsula when he obtained a summer home on the Friday road about 12 miles northwest of Rapid River.

Harris is married to Elsie Darling, a member of a pioneer Delta county family and they have four children; namely, Anne Belanger, who is secretary of the corporation and in charge of the Detroit office; Herbert, 23, of Flint; Hugh Jr., 21, who will work with his father at Rapid River, and Karen Lee, who is enrolled in the Rapid River schools.

Harris said he plans to have salesmen in Gladstone, Escanaba, Manistique and Iron Mountain and eventually will establish other offices in the Upper Peninsula. He said about eight offices would be needed to adequately cover the Upper Peninsula.

XXXV
Tancered walked perhaps 30 yards, then crossed the street. He passed McCoy's Saloon, the hotel and the Texas Saloon. Finally he came to Fugger's store. Without slowing or breaking his stride Wes Tancered turned in and opened the door.

There were two or three customers in the store, but Fugger was nowhere in sight. Tancered walked through the store and a sudden hush fell in the big room. He climbed the stairs to the balcony and pushed open the door of Fugger's private office.

Fugger gave a violent start as he recognized Tancered. "You!" "You're under arrest, Fugger," Tancered said evenly.

Sheer horror spread over Fugger's face. "What are you talking about?"

"I'm arresting you for the murder of Luke Miller," Tancered said. "You're coming to jail with me."

"You're crazy!" Fugger cried hoarsely.

"I'd rather kill you," Tancered went on. "but Luke Miller wanted things done according to the law, so come with me."

Fugger pushed back his chair and got to his feet. "You'd put me in jail?"

Tancered stood aside and gestured to the door. Fugger swayed for a moment, then reeled toward the door. He went down the stairs, almost stumbling a couple of times.

Downstairs the customers and his clerks watched in awe as Jacob Fugger, followed closely by Wes Tancered, walked through the store to the door.

On the street, people came out of stores, watched as Fugger shuffled along. As they neared McCoy's Saloon, Fugger's steps faltered. Tancered reached out and gave him a shove. Fugger almost fell on his face. He cried out, recovered and almost ran ahead of Tancered.

Hong Kong Smith, half-sober, stared at Tancered as he passed. Then he turned to a cowboy. "Get Dave Helm and Manny Harpending."

He saw McCay's face over the batwing doors. "Get Eric Stratmeyer."

Fugger marched into the marshal's office and stopped. Tancered indicated the door leading to the cell in the rear.

"Not in there," sobbed Fugger. Tancered opened the door and shoved Fugger in violently. Then he turned the key in the door.

As he came out of the marshal's office, Lee Kinnaird came up. "So you've done it!"

Tancered nodded. "I'll be back in a little while . . . to face them."

He walked down the street, cutting diagonally across, so that he reached the far sidewalk in front of McCoy's Saloon. Hong Kong Smith stood outside the door. His face was coldly savage.

"You've got an hour to get out of town," said Tancered.

"You've got about a half hour—to live!" retorted Hong Kong Smith.

Tancered went on to the Texas Saloon. He entered.

Lily Leeds was behind the bar.

Laura Vesser. He . . . he hates you."

He let out a heavy sigh and opened the door. Lily cried out, "Wes . . ."

He went out.

When he came out of the saloon Tancered saw a knot of Texas men gathered around Hong Kong Smith. It was a quiet group, however. They watched him as he crossed the street, but no one spoke, no one made a move.

He went on to the courthouse. Kinnaird stepped out as he came up. Behind Tancered, down the street, horses came galloping.

Kinnaird said, "Fugger offered me $10,000 to turn him loose."

"He made me an offer once," Tancered said. "He said every man had a price."

Kinnaird, looking past Tancered, nodded. "They're coming."

Tancered stepped aside, made a half turn, so that he was facing Kinnaird and could look down the street. The horsemen had come to a halt in front of McCoy's Saloon and were dismounting. Hong Kong Smith and his other group had merged with them. The augmented force began to move on foot, diagonally across the street, toward the jail.

President Outlines Policy For Foreign Use Of U.S. Surplus

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower has announced a government policy aimed at expansion of world trade and avoidance of "demoralizing world commodity markets" in disposal of a billion dollars worth of surplus farm crops during the next three years.

Under the Agriculture Trade Development and Assistance Act approved by Congress at the last session, surplus commodities valued at 700 million dollars may be sold abroad by the U.S. during the next 36 months.

Gifts To Needy Nations
In addition, commodities valued at up to 300 million dollars may be given away to friendly peoples abroad in the event of national disaster or famine.

The President issued a new general policy statement providing for disposal of such surplus commodities.

Here are the highlights of the statement:

"1. The world supply and demand situation in agricultural products requires in the interest of the general welfare an orderly and gradual liquidation of all the world's surpluses. Such a policy, arrived at with the full knowledge of friendly nations, would go far to eliminate fear arising from uncertainty."

"2. The United States cannot be satisfied with the position of holding its own supplies off the market and accumulating surpluses while other countries dispose of their entire production. Accordingly, the United States will offer its products at competitive prices. At the same time the United States will not use its agricultural surpluses to impair the traditional competitive position of friendly countries by disrupting world price-

ing relatives for several weeks. Jack Jacques, who will attend college there, left with them.

Miss Fern Mellon of Powers spent the weekend at the Virgil Winter home.

Mrs. Amos Fry of Cheboygan, Mich., was a recent Garden visitor.

New Gasoline Additive—TCP Seen Boosting Power up to 15%

Engineers find misfiring corrected, power-robbing deposits neutralized by new discovery

Power you thought you'd never feel again—short of a major overhaul—can now be yours without touching a tool to your engine, Shell Oil Company engineers report.

This, they find, is because the major cause of power loss in the majority of engines—pre-ignition and misfiring—can be overcome by the new additive blended into Shell Premium Gasoline and sold under the trademark TCP.

Cause of power loss explained
The facts, Shell explains, are these: every conventional gasoline leaves deposits of lead and carbon that sap the power of your engine. When you accelerate, these deposits form "hot spots" in the combustion chambers. These "hot spots" set off the fuel charges before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Called pre-ignition, this causes power to work against you, not for you, says the company.

The insulation at the tip of your spark plugs accumulates deposits, too. Here, because the deposits conduct electricity, they short-circuit the spark plug. The plug misfires. The fuel, unburned, is wasted power.

How TCP works
What Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP does, say the engineers, is "fireproof" the deposits in your combustion chambers and prevent wasteful pre-ignition. Power works for you. At the same time, TCP additive makes spark plug deposits harmless, the engineers find. They no longer short-circuit the spark plugs. The plugs fire when they should, burning, not wasting, your gasoline.

As a result, a restoration of power up to 15% is claimed for both "old faithfuls" and current models driven only a few thousand miles.

These benefits, Shell points out, makes Shell Premium with TCP the greatest gasoline development since the introduction of tetraethyl lead.

TCP, a Shell-discovered additive to Shell Premium Gasoline, is available exclusively at Shell Dealers.

Soil Conservation Directors Will Tour Farms

Trip Planned On Wednesday

Farmers, their families, and others interested in soil conservation will have a chance to see what local farmers are doing to save and improve their soil when the Delta County Soil Conservation District directors conduct a tour on Wednesday, Sept. 15.

"The tour is designed to illustrate some of the typical soil and water problems of this area and to show what can be done with the farmer's initiative to overcome these same problems," said Ed Bergman, chairman of the district. The tour will start at 10 a. m. from Bark River where the south Bark River road junctions with US2. The morning will be spent in the Bark River area while the afternoon will cover the Cornell area. Those attending are requested to bring their own noon lunch which can be eaten at the 4-H dining hall on the U. P. State Fair grounds. Milk, coffee, and dessert will be provided free.

Highlight of the noon recess will be a short talk by Jack Little, Extension dairyman, who will describe how quality roughages and dairying fit into the soil conservation program.

Farms to be visited in the morning include the farms of Urbanc Bros., Ken Konkel, and Ed Bergman. On the Urbanc farm a field windbreak of spruce, a field strip-cropping system, and a grassed waterway will be shown and explained. A contour strip-cropping system to control erosion will be seen at the Konkel farm while on the Bergman farm a tree planting program will be of interest.

After the noon lunch the farms of Mrs. J. Marcella, Octave Carrigan, and Joseph Steff will be visited. On the Marcella farm the use of grass silage in the dairy program will be discussed. Potatoes in a contour strip-cropping system will be the main point of interest on the Carrigan farm. Also to be seen there will be a tree planting program and drainage problems. At the Steff farm a trial plot of birdfoot trefoil will be shown to the group. This legume may become an important pasture crop if it proves adapted to this area.

The tour will be concluded by 3:30 p. m. It is being conducted by the district directors, assisted by J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent, and Irwin Ten Haken, of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. Other directors along with Bergman who will help with the tour are Clayton Ford, Onni Simmes, Ted Sundin and Robert Watchorn.

Reed Canary Grass Has Big Place In U. P.

Reed Canary grass, well-established on the deep muck soils of the Upper Peninsula, produces more cow-days of pasture than any other combination of grasses or legumes. Some farmers question the quality of the grass as a pasture but when managed right, cows will eat it and produce milk. A well prepared seed bed and a liberal application of high potash fertilizer are two essentials in obtaining vigorous, uniform stand of canary grass. Frequently, land on which this crop does best is too wet to work until the dry part of the summer. Good stands can be obtained from seedings made about August 15.

The land should be plowed and harrowed until a firm seed bed is prepared. Before the last harrowing, apply not less than 400 pounds of 0-9-27 fertilizer per acre. Seed canary grass with a broadcast seeder or through the grass seed box of a grain drill at 5 pounds per acre. Seed should be covered 1/4 to 1/2 inch deep. Roll or cultipack after seeding.

Once a canary grass is established, it can be an excellent pasture if properly managed. If the grass is allowed to get over 10 inches tall, it becomes coarse and unpalatable.

Plenty Of Water Needed By Flocks

Don't forget to water chicks and laying hens during hot weather. That's a warning to poultry raisers from University of Wisconsin poultryman J. B. Hayes.

Hayes says a bird consumes two pounds of water for each pound of feed. That means a flock of laying hens need more than 4 gallons of water a day. In hot weather they may need even more, Hayes says, because chickens can't cool off by sweating. Water helps them stay cool.

Hayes recommends that water for birds on range be placed in the shade. Where possible use an automatic watering device fed directly from the water system or from a large tank.

If birds are medicated through the drinking water, choose a medication to which the birds do not object. A medication that birds do not like may seriously decrease the amount of water consumed.

Increased Milk Drinking Urged

By JOSEPH HEIRMAN
(Delta County Agricultural Agent)

If someone told you that one out of five people doesn't drink over a half-glass of milk a day, you probably wouldn't believe it. A survey was made in a city near East Lansing. Over 1,000 families were contacted. They discovered that almost 20 per cent were drinking less than a quart of milk a week. This proves that we do not have over production but under consumption.

We have been using weed killers now for a few years with success. Now we are wondering if these weed killers can also be used for other purposes. Some preliminary work seems to indicate that they will prevent plants from being killed by frost if given a weak solution of T. C. A. Work will be done this fall to see what the possibilities are. T. C. A. will kill weeds at a certain strength solution but in a weaker solution it is supposed to hold off killing by frost. We will see what happens to the research in a year or two.

Some farmers are asking what the beef cattle outlook might be for 1955. The information we have indicates that meat supplies will be plentiful. A continued strong consumer demand and a favorable spread between feeder and fat cattle should still make it worth while. Feed supplies will also make it encouraging to many farmers.

Ten to fifteen per cent of the potatoes that go into storage apparently in good condition come out as culls or number two's. The injuries that cause the lowering of the grade are due to improper handling during the harvesting operations. Freshly dug potatoes bruise easily in handling. To reduce injury of potatoes at harvest time, here are a few things to check:

1. Set digger point deep enough to carry soil at least two-thirds of the way back on digger chain.
2. Reduce ground speed to about 1 1/2 miles per hour.
3. Run digger chain as slow as possible according to soil conditions.
4. Pad chain links with rubber tubing.
5. Use shields over end of links.
6. Pad deflectors with rubber.
7. Keep digger chain reasonably tight to prevent sagging and whipping.
8. Pad truck platform and handle sacks carefully.
9. Avoid walking on potatoes when in bags or in bins.
10. Do not drop potatoes too far from end of elevator and expect them not to crack or bruise.

Oscar has been having a high time over the Labor Day weekend. Apparently, he knows that fall is around the corner and has no desire to get out-of-doors. He mentioned tips on keeping cut flowers:

1. Cut after sunset when the food supply is highest.
2. Put them in warm water—90 degrees to within a few inches of the bloom. Leave for four hours and remove from water. Cut stems again to start a new water column.
3. Put in cooler water and place flowers in cooler parts of the house.

Common Salt Is Effective Moisture Test For Grain

Every farmer knows that damp grain will spoil in storage. It is not easy to judge by feel or sight when grain is dry enough to store safely. Actually it is the moisture in the air around the grain that causes the mold spores to sprout and grow, causing heating, mustiness and mold. Because of this fact it is possible to use the "salt" test to determine if grain is dry enough to store. The test is based on the fact that common, fine (not the "free flowing in damp weather" kind) table salt will become sticky by taking up moisture from air that has a relative humidity of 75 per cent or higher.

Wrap a small, wide-mouthed bottle (an olive bottle will do nicely) in dark paper. Fill it half full of newly threshed grain. Add one-fourth to one-half teaspoon of salt. Insert stopper and shake the bottle for one minute. Slide the paper down and observe the condition of the salt. If the salt is dry, repeat the shaking for another minute and examine the salt again.

If the salt grains are separate the grain is dry enough for storage. If the salt grains are clumped together the grain is too damp. Make sure the bottle is dry at the start of the test by shaking a teaspoonful of salt in it.

Ask your county agricultural agent for M. S. C. Folder F-134. "Prevent Damage to Stored Wheat," which contains complete instructions with pictures of the salt test.

Women With Large Families Rarely Have Breast Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Women with large families seem the least likely to develop breast cancer, scientists from five continents reported Thursday.

Their studies indicated that unmarried women over 35 are most likely to have the disease. Results of the studies were reported at a cancer panel meeting at the International Congress of Pathology, attended by about 1,500 scientists from more than 30 nations.

Jean and Gerald who received the highest rating in the State demonstration contests were coached by J. L. Heirman, County Agricultural Agent, and Irwin TenHaken, Soil Conservationist.

ADVERTISMENT ARTHRITIS MADE ME SCREAM WITH PAIN SAYS DETROIT WOMAN

"X-rays showed that I had an extremely bad case of arthritis in my neck and shoulders. Still, O-JIB-WA BITTERS helped me," says Mrs. Bertha List, 14802 DaCosta, Detroit.

"I wish to express my deep appreciation for what O-JIB-WA BITTERS has done for me. You can't realize how wonderful it is to be entirely free of pain and stiffness once again after suffering such a long time. Arthritis struck me first in the neck and shoulders so severely that I couldn't turn my head. X-rays showed that I had an extremely bad case. I started to take treatments and shots for it right away, but they didn't help me; in fact I was getting worse as it spread to my arms and fingers. My knuckles were so enlarged that I couldn't close my hands and raising my arms to comb my hair was impossible. I screamed with pain on many occasions as it hurt worse than a toothache. When the arthritis went down to my hip and I had to drag my legs around, and couldn't get up or down the stairs, my family feared I would be an invalid. I started taking O-JIB-WA BITTERS on the recommendation of a friend, but was a little discouraged at first when after 15 days I didn't see much change. By the time I had taken it a month though, I was much improved. I picked up so that I could eat and sleep better and begin to feel like myself again. I was surprised to find that I could close my hands again, and my neighbors couldn't get over what O-JIB-WA was doing for me. Now I am glad to report I do all my housework, including the washing, as the pain and stiffness are completely gone. I am still taking O-JIB-WA as a preventive and you can be sure that I will recommend it to anyone that I hear of that is suffering from rheumatism or arthritis."

The bidding:
South West North East
1♠ 2♠ 2♠ Pass
3♥ Pass 4♥ Pass
4♥ Pass 4♥ Pass
5♠ Pass 6♠ Pass

West opened the club king. The ace won, and South naturally tried for the immediate discard of a club on dummy's diamonds.

West, however, ruffed the trick, and South could not avoid the loss of a natural trump trick.

There were faults in the bidding of both South and North, but this writer is inclined to blame North for the final selection of the contract. South overbid a shade in jumping to three hearts on the second round, but the plain truth is that this jump should have been turned out fortunately. North's club cue bid was in order because he could not find a better call on his strong holding, but when he next gave the spade preference, he should not have persisted in carrying this preference through to the six-level. True, on South's five-spade bid, North had the right to look to his partner for a better suit, but this did not in any way alter the fact that North himself had slightly better heart support. Surely, having once preferred spades, it would have been simple common sense for North to bid either six diamonds or six hearts rather than pin-point the slam in spades.

It is also true that South could have made the six-spade contract by applying double-dummy technique, but this would have been sheer clairvoyance. The slam should have been bid at hearts, and South couldn't have gone wrong in the play.

New Marinette TV Station Brings NBC To Upper Peninsula Hiawathaland

WMBV-TV To Operate With 115,000 Watts

When WMBV-TV goes on the air with its premier program from Marinette at 7:30 this evening (EST or Escanaba time), it will mark the official beginning of close range NBC television telecasting to Upper Peninsula's Hiawathaland.

Marinette's new TV station will operate initially with a power of 115,000 watts and plans for the future anticipate a power increase to 250,000 watts. The station will operate on Very High Frequency Channel 11, and it is designed to provide good reception within a 70 mile radius and attract fringe-area viewers far beyond.

Reports in the Escanaba area indicate that the WMBV-TV pattern which has been telecast for several days recently has been "coming in very good."

'Best Of Programs'

"We are very happy to be able to bring NBC television to Upper Peninsula's Hiawathaland and to all of Green Bay Packerland," Joseph D. Mackin, general manager of WMBV-TV, said this morning. "Viewers can be assured that we will offer the best of programs available."

First steps to obtain a television station in Marinette, he said, were taken in June 1952 by W. E. Walker, president of the M&M Broadcasting Co., with the lifting of the "freeze" on granting of TV station licenses.

Shortly after the application was filed, a rival application was entered by the Green Bay Broadcasting Co. and a long delay was anticipated because the two applications for the same facility were mutually exclusive and because of the backlog of applications on file for larger communities.

Construction Permit

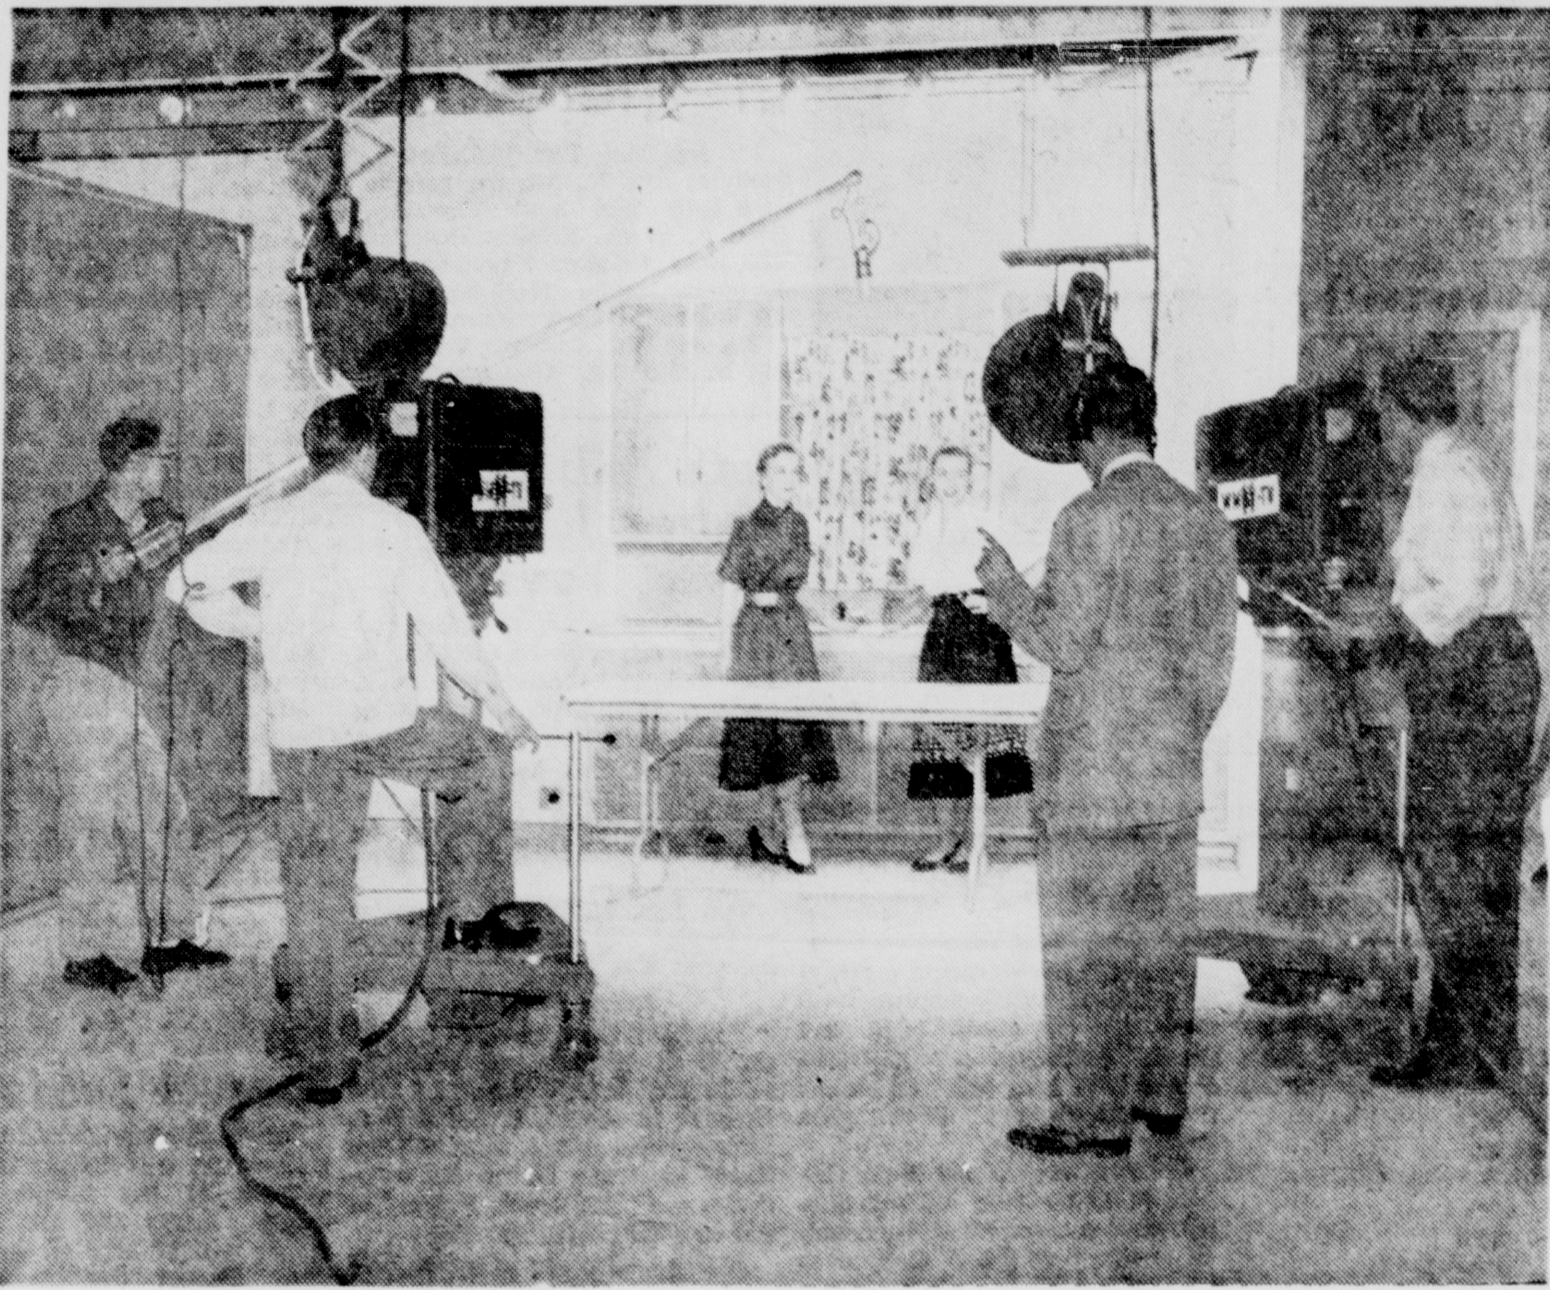

Before the hearing was called, the application of the Green Bay firm was withdrawn and the way cleared for the granting of the construction permit to the M & M Broadcasting Co.

Following the granting of the construction permit Nov. 18, 1953, WMBV's Washington engineers, A. D. Ring and Associates, made studies to ascertain the best location for the transmitter and tower. After weeks of conference with A. Alexander, WMBV's chief engineer, a site was finally selected located roughly two miles north of Oconto.

Equipment and materials were then purchased and construction of the tower and building was started immediately. A special RCA transmitter was installed and when operated with the 12 bay antenna produces a power of 115,000 watts. The 500 foot tower was erected and a 74-foot antenna was installed on top of the tower making it a total of 574 feet above the ground. The tower weighs 30 tons. The antenna weighs over four tons.

Provide For Color

The modern transmitter building at Oconto is approximately 26 by 40 feet. It was necessary to add to the studio and office facilities of the M & M Broadcasting Co. in Radio and TV Park, in Marinette. A large TV studio, 35 by 50 feet, was constructed and equipped with two studio cameras, lighting and sound equipment, plus other modern equipment in order to provide ample facilities

STUDIO CREW AT WORK—Shown here is the studio crew to be used on WMBV's "Channel 11 Home Show" each weekday afternoon. It consists of two camera operators, a man operating the microphone on the portable "mike boom," a director, and the artists themselves. In addition there will be a minimum of two men in the control rooms, one handling the sound and the other controlling picture quality; a projectionist to handle films, slides, and photographs; and an engineer at WMBV's transmitter near Oconto.

Those attending were Mrs. Richard Peak, Mrs. John Oliver, Mrs. Paul Horst, Mrs. Llewellyn Larson, Mrs. Henry Makosky, Mrs. Robert Jensen, Mrs. Ray Anderson, Mrs. Harold Moser, Mrs. Frank Moersch and Mrs. Llewellyn Larson.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 5 at the home of Mrs. Richard Peak.

for quality programming.

WMBV also has a recently developed RCA Vidicon Camera and Multiplexer which will give superior reproduction of slides, photographs and movies.

Other modifications to the existing building include a completely equipped control room, an announcer's studio, and a film room. There is an art work shop and a photo laboratory. Additional offices for the various new departments are also housed in the building at Radio and TV Park in Marinette.

WMBV has chosen equipment which allows rapid modification to color.

Milton Berle, Martha Raye And Bob Hope Seen On NBC

A new realistic situation

comedy, "It's A Great Life," starring Michael O'Shea, James Dunn and William Bishop, promises to be an outstanding entertainment entry of the television year. It will be carried by WMBV-TV.

"It's A Great Life" is the story of two ex-GIs—O'Shea and Bishop—who decide to continue their Army friendship by living together while seeking civilian careers. They choose Southern California because Bishop had been stationed there during the war and liked the climate.

The series which is filmed in Hollywood, opens with the arrival of the pair in that city. They answer an advertisement for a furnished room and find themselves in the household of a widow, played by Francis Xavier, her unemployed brother, James Dunn, and her attractive daughter, Barbara Bates.

As the series progresses, O'Shea and Bishop encounter hilarious misadventures in their efforts to adjust to civilian life and earn a living. Subsequent episodes find them selling furniture in a department store (aided and abetted by James Dunn), working as extras in a science-fiction movie, baby sitting and countless other comic situations.

Milton Berle, Martha Raye and Bob Hope will occupy the 8-9 p. m., (EST) Tuesday spot throughout the season. Berle, "Mr. Television," will open the series on Sept. 21 and will be seen every other week, for a total of 20 shows. This will mark Berle's seventh season in television, all on NBC.

Martha Raye, will be seen in the 8 to 9 p. m. (EST) Tuesday spot once a month, starting Sept. 28. This will be Martha's fourth season as one of NBC's leading comedy stars. During this time, she has established herself as one of the most versatile comic personalities of television, to add to her already impressive reputation as an outstanding night club, film and vaudeville performer. She will do a total of 10 shows.

Bob Hope will star in six shows in the same 8-9 p. m. niche. His first show will be Oct. 12. The shows will adhere to the variety-guest star format that was so popular last season. Hope, one of the best-known and best-loved people in show business, is an especial favorite of servicemen and servicewomen throughout the world. Since World War II started, Hope has traveled more than

Red Buttons Show Starting Oct. 10 On Marinette TV

The "Red Buttons Show" joins established hit shows in the Friday night lineup for NBC-TV and WMBV-TV this season. This rousing roster of entertainment offers music, news, more comedy, a suspenseful documentary and two favorites to stir the blood of sports fans.

Red Buttons, the boyish little fellow who endears with his self-effacing humor, will be starred in his own show starting Oct. 10. He'll dance a little, sing a little, kid around a lot, and will introduce a whole new cast to add to the offbeat characterizations he has made famous in the past. But he won't forget Rocky, the prizefighter; Mugsy, the juvenile delinquent; Keeglefarven, the low-comedy type; and the Kupke Kid, a lovable arch from the wrong side of the railroad tracks. Combining his rare talent for monologue with situation comedy, Red will have many surprises in store throughout the season.

Atomic Energy Show Planned On TV Monday

That strange paradox confronting the world today—magnificent hope and utter disaster lying hidden in the heart of the same atom—will be explored searchingly in the first television program to tell the over-all story of nuclear energy.

NBC-TV will present the program on WMBV-TV titled "Three, Two, One—Zero!" Monday, Sept. 13, from 7 to 8 p. m. The title comes from the rhythmic counting of the seconds that precedes each test blast of a nuclear device.

The program will be produced with the technical assistance of the Atomic Energy Commission and high officials of the government. It is being readied by the NBC-TV documentary unit responsible for the network's much-acclaimed "Victory at Sea" series.

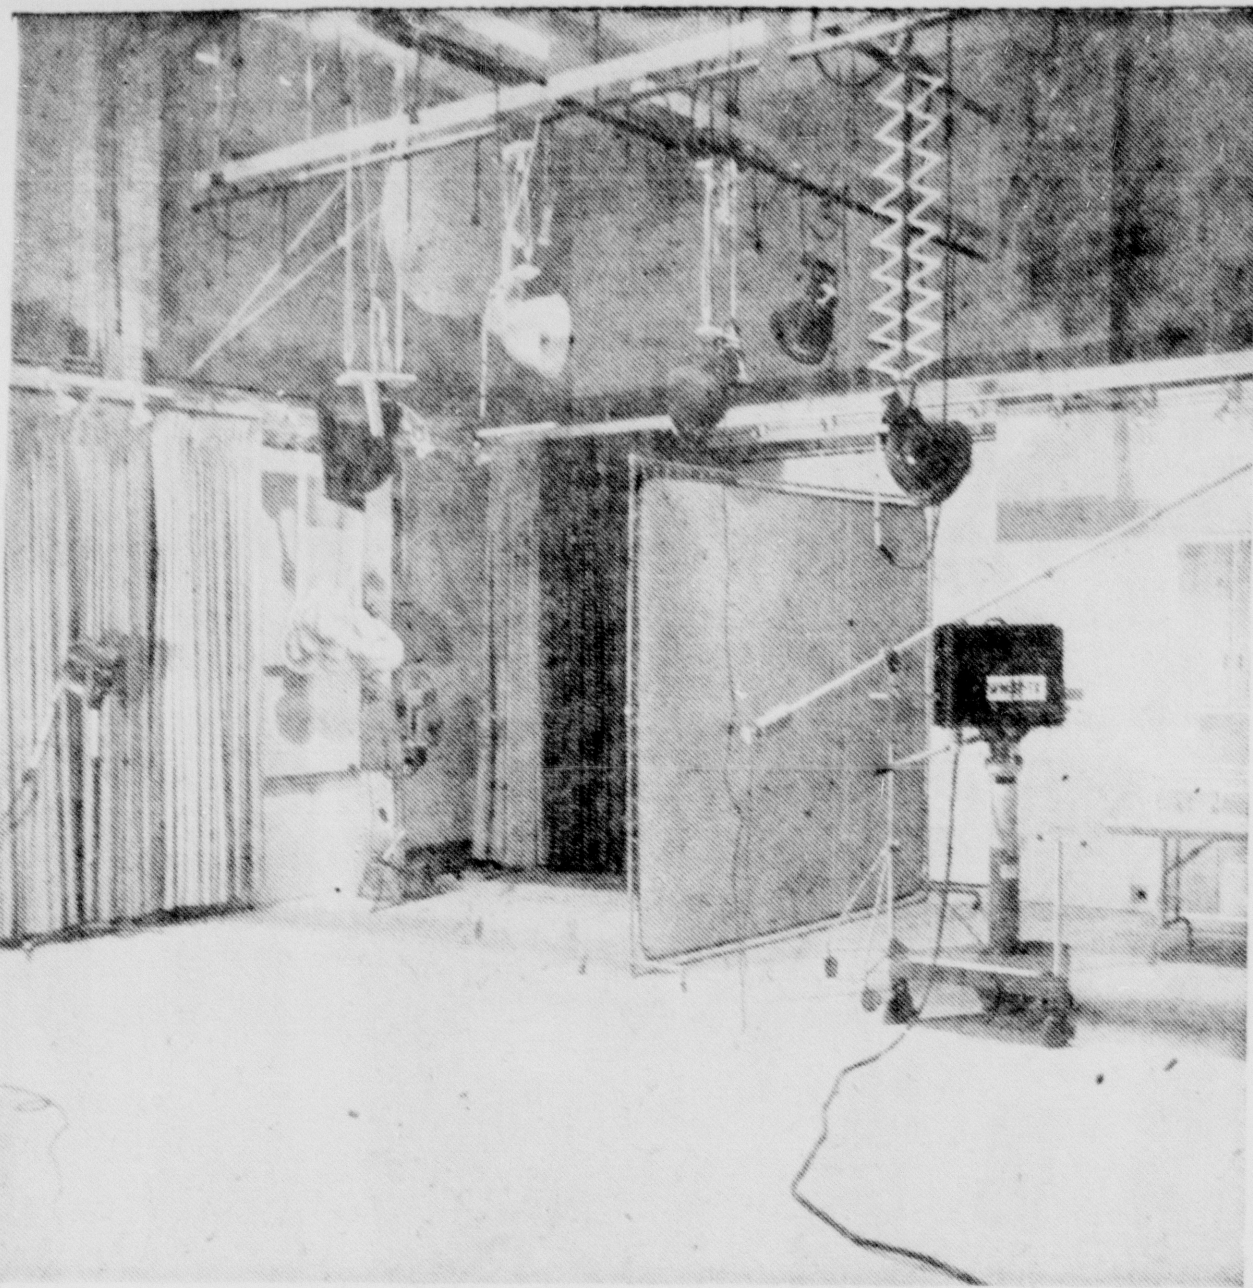

Henry Salomon Jr., who produced "Victory at Sea," will produce the nuclear energy telecast and, with Richard Hanser, will write the script. Robert Russell Bennett will compose an original orchestral score, and Alexander Scourby will be narrator.

"Three, Two, One—Zero!" will be entirely on film. It will utilize the most telling and powerful of the film footage available in this country as well as from Russia, Japan and elsewhere. It will include the "best" of 52 different nuclear explosions available on film.

As outlined by Salomon, the program will show how life for the ordinary American citizen has been affected by the "situation of hovering menace." It will picture Russia as "the other half of a split world which is now capable of destroying itself," and will attempt to convey something of that nation's scientific and industrial prowess today. (It will underscore the fact that the Russians are especially advanced in exactly those fields where party propaganda and politics seldom interfere—mathematics and physics, the fields that count in nuclear energy.) It also will examine the case of the intellectual traitor (like Klaus Fuchs) who looms so large in the history of these times, and will show how "security" has become a dominating word in our national life.

STARTED JURY SYSTEM

The present-day jury system was fathered by William the Conqueror, who summoned "12 lawful men" from each district of England to act as finders in determining taxes that each landowner should pay.

PART OF NEW STUDIO—This photograph shows another corner of the WMBV studios, showing a portion of the station's unusual weather set. Notice the high ceilings from which lights are suspended. This height allows for greater control of the lighting and allows for dissipation of the great amount of heat generated by the lights during a broadcast. The large screen shown will serve as a background for some broadcasts. The projector behind it will throw pictures of outdoor scenes and distant cities on the screen before which the artist will stand, apparently far away from WMBV's studios.

New Marinette Station Hooked To National Net

WMBV-TV will be carrying many NBC-TV programs originating in New York and in Los Angeles. Television picture signals are sent over long distance by means of high frequency carrier waves. To make it possible to send these microwave carriers of TV programs over distances, relay towers are built and the signal strength is given a boost before being sent on to the next tower.

Between New York and Chicago there are 34 relay towers. Four relay towers span the distance between Chicago and Milwaukee. From Milwaukee to Marinette four more relay points are needed. These are located at Slinger, Peebles, Highcliff and Anston. These relay towers, each within line-of-sight of the next tower in the chain, are usually erected on high points like hills or buildings, about 25 to 30 miles apart. This method of passing microwave carriers from tower to tower over hundreds of miles may seem complex. Actually, it takes but a fraction of a second for the microwaves to go from New York to Marinette.

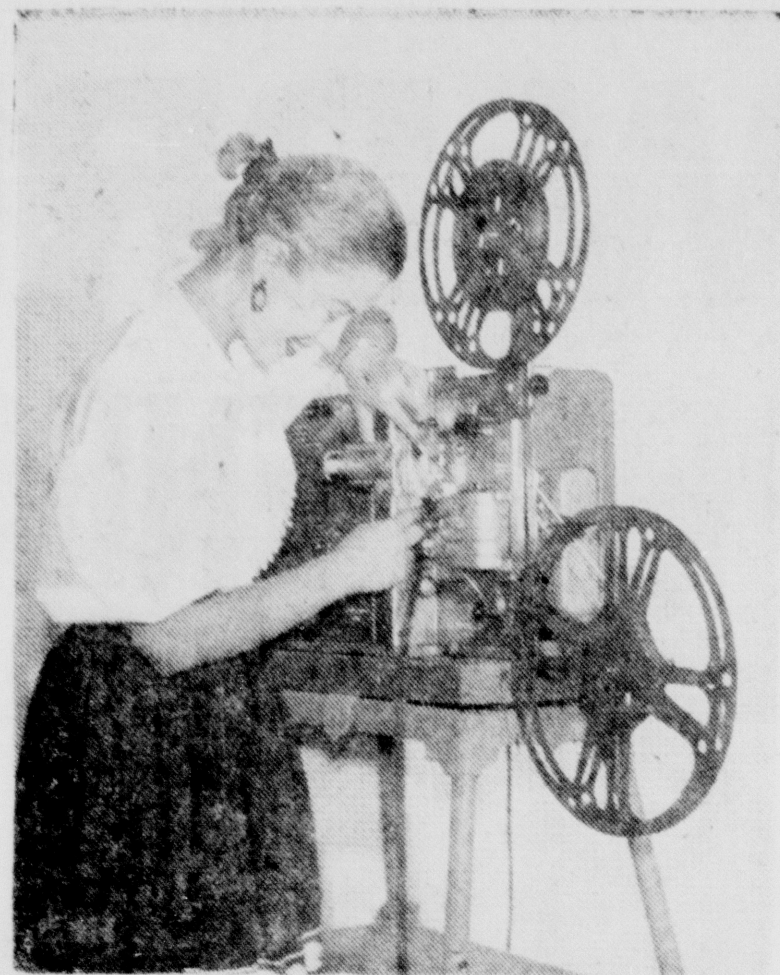

TV programs which will be seen over WMBV-TV will go directly out of the transmitter tower, located roughly two miles north of Oconto.

In addition, programs which originate at the studios in Marinette are sent by the station's own microwave to the transmitter. The sending unit is located on top of a building which is adjacent to the studio. The receiving unit is located on the tower.

the wedding of a niece on Saturday.

Henry LaChapell and Miss Elaine LaChapell visited in Milwaukee recently with Mr. and Mrs. Clement LaChapell and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brozynski.

Only a few traces of prehistoric man are found in densely forested areas.

Hermansville

Class Organization

HERMANVILLE—Dr. Holmes Bcynton of Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, will be at the Hermansville High School Tuesday, Sept. 21 at 5:30 p. m. to organize the class in Teaching of Arithmetic 402-3. It will carry three hours of residence credit and may be used as a substitute for Arithmetic 207-3.

Persons interested in this class are requested to contact Supt. Arne Johnson of the Hermansville schools as soon as possible.

Peat in its natural state is 90 to 95 per cent water.

Conversion To Color Is Easy

Marinette's new television station, WMBV, is one of many NBC-TV outlets throughout the nation whose equipment will allow for speedy conversion to color programming.

While the Marinette station plans no immediate telecasting in color, its officials point out that color shows can easily be produced and transmitted to Northeastern Wisconsin viewers as soon as such programming becomes feasible in this area.

WMBV will begin telecasting on Channel 11 Sept. 10.

NBC currently is developing additional studio facilities which will enable the network to produce 12 to 15 hours of live color programs weekly. This will allow the network, at capacity, to schedule more than five hundred hours of color programming during the coming season.

NBC's color telecasting facilities will surpass those of any other network by 300 per cent, according to network authorities.

Already scheduled for transmission by the network are 33 color "spectaculars"—90-minute high-budgeted productions ranging across the entire entertainment field. These spectaculars will provide 49½ hours of programming during the fall and winter months.

Other NBC equipment scheduled to play an important part in the network's color plans is the "color mobile unit." This unit will work on outdoor color shows during the fall season. A substantial number of color film programs also are being planned for fall and winter transmission.

Friday Night Fights To Be Seen On WMBV

The "Cavalcade of Sports" on NBC television (Fridays, 10 p. m. (EST or Escanaba time) presents the biggest sporting events of the year. Viewers tuned to the "Cavalcade" watch the best in boxing, horseracing, World Series baseball and the Rose Bowl football game. The program will be seen on WMBV-TV.

In 1952 the "Cavalcade" presented such exciting sports events as the Belmont Stakes, the Walcott-Charles heavyweight championship fight, the seven-game World Series between the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers, as well as the Rose Bowl game in Pasadena on New Year's Day. Each Friday night throughout the fall, winter and spring, Cavalcade brought televiewers the feature bout of the week at Madison Square Garden in New York.

The Gillette Safety Razor Co., sponsor of the "Cavalcade of Sports," was the first sponsor of a televised bout when, on Sept. 29, 1944, NBC cameras televised the Willie Pep-Chalky Wright featherweight championship fight at Madison Square Garden.

In those days televising a fight offered tremendous problems. Electronic cameras were bulky and crumpled the steel tripods that supported them. Camera cables were twice the size of present coastal tubing and broke easily. Extra spotlights had to be used to provide necessary illumination of the ring.

Artificial Hibernation Saves Elderly Woman In Critical Operation

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN
CHICAGO (AP)—The patient's case appeared hopeless.

The elderly woman, her life hanging by a thread because of a stroke, suffered an acute gall bladder attack the following day that required an immediate operation.

Ordinarily, the shock of such surgery or the mere administration of an anesthetic, could kill a patient in that condition.

But thanks to a new medical technique just getting its first trials in America, the patient was placed in a state of artificial hibernation and the operation was performed successfully.

Suffers No Pain

No anesthetic was given but the woman remembered suffering no pain and there was no surgical shock to combat later.

Dr. Edgar F. Berman, Baltimore surgeon, described the technique in an address and interview at the annual congress of the United States and Canadian sections of the International College of Surgeons.

The artificial hibernation state is a refinement of the "frozen sleep" technique introduced more than two decades ago. It combines ice packs that lower body temperature with a new drug that acts on the brain to suppress feeling.

Dr. Berman said in an interview Wednesday that 50 patients—the poorest surgical risks found—were placed in the hibernation state in Baltimore before necessary surgery was carried out. He said there were only two deaths in

Science Program, Mr. Wizard, Set For WMBV Weekly

The amazing science program, "Mr. Wizard," takes the spotlight on WMBV-TV Wednesday nights. With its creator Don Herbert in the role of Mr. Wizard himself, the show makes scientific matters understandable and fascinating to even the rankest amateur. Aided by his small assistants Betsy and Buzz, Mr. Wizard explains such things as the scientific difference between music and noise, how television works, food spoilage, and building methods from primitive huts to modern skyscrapers and dozens of other experiments. Winner of a Peabody Award for the Best Children's and Youth Television Program of 1953, "Mr. Wizard" has found such widespread appeal among school-age television viewers that more than 5,000 Mr. Wizard science clubs have been formed in 42 states.

German Immigrant Gives Government Of U. S. His Estate

NEW YORK (AP)—German-born Julius Lehmann loved America, and he proved it in his last will and testament.

He came to this country 50 years ago, and became a prosperous importer. In 1951 his wife died. Last June 20, he died at the age of 92.

In his will, probated Wednesday, he left all but $1,000 of his $70,000 estate "to the government of the United States of America to which my wife and I are so much indebted for the blessings we have enjoyed as citizens of this country."

which hibernation could have been the direct cause.

Packed In Icebags

Artificial hibernation is a new concept of combatting stress and disease. Instead of fighting disease with an exhausting outpouring of chemical secretions the body passively adapts to the new situation.

To reach the state, the patient is given Thorazine, a drug which drops the blood pressure, body temperature, respiration, and the activity of the glands. The patient goes into a semiconscious state. Then the patient is packed in ice bags and the body temperature is lowered further, sometimes down to 85 degrees.

In this state, no anesthetic is required to kill pain of surgery.

The patient is like the animals that sleep through the winter. Blocked off are the sympathetic and parasympathetic nervous systems and certain endocrine glands which normally marshal the body's defenses against external attack. This furious gland activity can exhaust vital reserves and cause death.

He will present the news on Channel 11 at 7 and 11 p. m. (EST) daily.

Loretta Young Returns To TV

A confident and enthusiastic Loretta Young has returned to NBC-TV to resume the television series which she began one year ago. So successful has "The Loretta Young Show" been that the lovely star, after only one year in the TV medium, was voted by Billboard Magazine's poll as "best actress in a television series."

Exactly a year ago Loretta realized that the time had come for her to take the plunge if she was to find her place in the rapidly growing new medium. After an extensive search for exactly the right format, Miss Young and her husband, producer Tom Lewis, decided that the best format would be one which allowed her to portray a different character each week. In these characters, extensive changes of hair style, wardrobe, acting techniques and types of roles could be incorporated—a joy for any young actress. That the format was successful has been amply proven by the program's high ratings.

Defense Rescue Trucks Delivered

LANSING (P)—The first three of 10 civil defense rescue trucks were presented to State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler Thursday by Brig. Gen. Lester J. Maitland, director of the Office of Civil Defense.

The trucks will be available to the critical target areas designated by the Federal Civil Defense Administration as Kent County, Genesee County and the Detroit metropolitan area.

The FCDA said consideration also will be given to the requirements of such fringe areas as Saginaw-Bay City, Kalamazoo-Battle Creek, Jackson-Ann Arbor and Muskegon.

The trucks, built by Reo Motors, are being purchased with a $90,000 grant from the state and federal civil defense agencies. They are equipped with everything necessary to remove injured people from damaged or demolished buildings, and each will have a two-way radio.

This Is Your Life Will Be Featured On Marinette TV

Few shows have seen the phenomenal first season success which befell Ralph Edwards' NBC-TV program, "This Is Your Life." The television version of the show, which made its debut Oct. 1, 1952, catapulted it into the "top ten" before the end of January and was probably one of the most talked of shows in the country.

Even the people who claimed they weren't fans watched it and talked about it. How did Edwards continue to surprise people? Where did he get all of his facts? How was the research done? How did the shows affect the lives of the principal subjects?

Success in new shows is not an alien sensation to Edwards, however. He amazed an audience one night in 1939 with a radio version of the old parlor game, "Truth or Consequences." On the initial program a quiz-show contestant tried to speak into a microphone with his mouth full of lollipops.

Such gimmicks, the product of the feverish Edwards imagination, continued on "Truth or Consequences" with the dispatching of a contestant to Alaska where he sang "Baby, It's Cold Outside" to an Eskimo; the staging of a beetle derby in which the contestant

Luxury Ship To Give Detroit-Cleveland Passenger Service

WASHINGTON (P)—The Interstate Commerce Commission Wednesday authorized the Michigan-Ohio Navigation Co., formerly Waterways Inc., of Detroit, to establish a new passenger ship service between Detroit and Cleveland.

The company is preparing a luxury vessel, the Marine Star, capable of handling 2,500 passengers for the summertime service.

The vessel, scheduled to go into operation early next June, will accommodate both passengers and automobiles for the 107-mile trip. The company plans 10 round trips a week.

of the Century," a knockout TV show, the big men in boxing from Jack Johnson and Stan Ketchell to Joe Louis and Henry Armstrong slug their way across the nation's television screen.

Week after week, all the champs—Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney, Max Schmeling, Max Baer, Barney Ross, Tony Zale, Rocky Graziano—are seen in title bouts. The famous Dempsey-Tunney "long count" on June 22, 1927, or Joe Louis' quick KO of Max Schmeling in the revenge match of 1938, gave fight fans a chance to cheer again. "Greatest Fights" also shows newcomers how champions won their fame.

During the indoor fight season, NBC-TV fans can compare the current crop of battlers with all-time greats. "Greatest Fights" follows the weekly television feature bout at Madison Square Garden, New York.

The success of the show is due in large part to special technical arrangements which have made it possible to present old-time film reels. Most of them ran at slower speeds than current projectors use. They are jerky and caused viewers headaches and eyestrain. The producers of "Greatest Fights" refilmed old reels at modern speeds and, where necessary, dubbed in sound. Slow-motion blowups of significant moments quicken the viewer's thrill.

"Greatest Fights of the Century" started on Oct. 15, 1948, as a five-minute television show. Popular demand caused the sponsor to enlarge the program format to a quarter-hour. The program enjoys an audience rating comparable to televised "live" boxing bouts.

No Progress In Labor Dispute

Another meeting of officials of the Northwestern Veneer and Plywood Corp., and officers of Buckeye Local No. 9, representing employees of the corporation, was held Thursday afternoon in an effort to iron out differences between labor and management which have been curtailing operations for several months.

Jerry Despins, Green Bay, federal conciliator, met with the group but little, if any progress was made in conciliating the dispute.

Seniority provisions of a new contract being negotiated form the main hurdle in the mediation, it is reported.

The union insists that seniority be the governing factor in work assignments in the plant while management wants the right to place the men on jobs they feel they are best suited for.

Prisoner Willing To Be Sent To Russia Must Remain In Jail

JESSUP, Md. (AP)—A young prisoner who wants to trade the iron bars of Maryland's House of Correction here for the Iron Curtain of Russia was advised he would have to stay in jail.

The desperate offer was made by Lawrence Banton, who has served half of a one-year sentence for attempted robbery.

He read a newspaper article on a proposed amendment being studied by the last Congress which provided, in effect, foreign aid funds to pay for one-way tickets to Russia for citizens of the United States who want to go to Russia and stay there permanently.

However, by the time Banton's inquiry reached its destination, the amendment had been killed in a congressional conference.

Warden William F. Sveiner said Banton, an Army veteran, was trying to get to Russia for a chance to "start life over."

Miss Mary McNair of Milwaukee

City Manager H. J. Henrikson said that while Kenney would make no official statement, it appeared that everything was in order and it would be unnecessary for the City of Gladstone to be represented at the finance commission meeting.

As soon as formal approval of the $2,100,000 issue of bonds will be advertised. It is expected the sale may begin as soon as Oct. 5.

The city has a guaranteed bid of 3.69 per cent from Jurgan and Moody Co., of St. Paul. This bid has an escalator clause which provides for an increase or decrease depending on the bond market at the time of sale.

Present market conditions indicate a rate of 3.5 per cent may be obtained, Manager Henrikson states.

Bishop Baraga Day To Be Noted

On Sunday, Sept. 12, the annual observance of Bishop Baraga Day will be held in Manistique. The occasion will be highlighted by a Pontifical Mass, offered by the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, Ph.D., D.D., Bishop of Marquette, at 4 p. m. in the new St. Francis de Sales Church. He will be assisted by a large group of the diocesan clergy. It is also expected that visitors from Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Upper Peninsula towns will be present.

Rev. Louis Baznik, pastor of St. Vitus Church, Cleveland, will give the sermon at the Mass.

The Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus will act as an escort of honor for Bishop Noa in a procession which will go from the rectory to the church.

The assisting ministers of the Pontifical Mass are as follows: Arch-priest, Father F. M. Scherlinger, Manistique; Deacons of honor, Frs. Matt LaViolette, Gladstone and John Hughes, Kingsford; Deacon of the Mass, Fr. Bernard Karol, St. Ignace; Subdeacon of the Mass, Fr. George Pernaski, Grand Marais; Masters of Ceremony, Revs. Arnold Casanova and Edmund Szoka.

The minor ministers will be chosen from the ranks of high school servers.

The music for the Mass will be furnished by the junior choir of the parish school, assisted by the student body, with Sr. Eligius directing.

Following the Mass, informal pilgrimages may be made to Indian Lake, site of the first Catholic Church built by Bishop Baraga in 1832.

The clergy will be guests of the parish at a dinner to be served at 6 in the school hall by ladies of the St. Anne Society. Following the dinner, the annual meeting of the Bishop Baraga Association will take place, with the election of officers on the agenda. An address by Mr. Joseph Gregorich, historian of the BBA, will be featured. Newest findings and up-to-the-minute reports on the Cause of Beatification of Bishop Baraga will be given.

Four Traffic Law Breakers Pay Fines

Four more traffic cases were heard in Manistique justice court Wednesday afternoon and Thursday.

Call No Jury For Circuit Court

No jury will be called for the September term of Circuit Court here, it was decided Wednesday afternoon in Sault Ste. Marie by Judge Richard W. Nebel, of Munising.

Decision not to convene a jury was made by the judge following a conference with G. Leslie Bouschor, county clerk, and William J. Sheahan, prosecuting attorney.

One criminal action was eliminated from the docket by Judge Nebel who ordered that the case of Leon Rushford, manslaughter, be remanded back to Manistique justice court for preliminary examination.

George Wood, attorney for Rushford, had petitioned the court that the case be returned to justice court, and this was concurred to by Prosecuting Attorney Sheahan. No date for the preliminary examination has been set.

The September term will convene here at 10 a. m., Monday, Sept. 27.

Atomic Warfare Takes More Men, Ridgway Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway believes the advent of atomic warfare means there must be more, not fewer soldiers.

Atomic bombs and artillery will require greater dispersion of men and smaller units, the Army Chief of Staff said in an address for the National Security Industrial Assn.

"This fall the Army, using two of its veteran divisions, will conduct extensive tests under simulated atomic conditions seeking answers" to the problem of what size combat units should be for atomic war battlefields, Ridgway added.

Current strength of the Army is slightly under 1½ million. The latest official plan, announced last spring, is to trim the Army down to a strength of 1,164,000 by the end of June 1955. Peak strength during the Korean War was above 1,600,000.

Eskey Home Opener Saturday

Lineup Shifted For Blue Devils

Four changes in the starting lineup for Escanaba's first home football game against Sault Ste. Marie Saturday afternoon at 2:30 were revealed by Coach Joe Milokna today.

All players saw extensive action against Ironwood in last week-end's opening game.

No Serious Injuries

The week's workouts, hampered by daily bad weather, produced no serious injuries. Dave Viau, who started at the fullback slot last week, is nursing a collar bone bruise and is not likely to see action, Milokna said.

The Eskymo reserve team will clash with the Manistique B squad in a preliminary affair at noon at the Escanaba Athletic field. Officials for the varsity game will be Alvin Cummings of Kingsford, Eddie Doucette of Vulcan and Omer Lajeunesse of Iron Mountain.

Soo swung a two-touchdown haymaker in the second half of the season's opener against Munising to score a 20-7 victory. The Blue Devils are defending champs of the Great Lakes Conference and last year ran up seven wins against two defeats.

Eight returning regulars strengthen the Soo lineup with veteran halfback Ron Bentley setting the offensive pace. Operating from the single wing, Bentley galloped 122 yards in 21 ball carrying trips. Soo also completed seven of 16 passes for 110 yards.

Eskymos Seek Revenge

Besides Bentley, the Soo regulars are Dwayne Bosley, Darul McGill, Larry Myner, Pete Bush, Tom Welch, Kevin West and Cammie Currie.

The Eskymos will be attempting revenge for a 20-0 loss to Soo last season. The long series of games between the two schools is heavily balanced in Escanaba's favor but the Blue Devils have won two straight. They edged the Eskey team, 7-6, in 1952.

Escanaba showed ability and determination in its opening game at Ironwood last week. Although they lost 13-6, the Eskymos fought out of a 13-0 hole in the final period and outplayed the Red Devil defending Upper Peninsula champs throughout the quarter.

Work On Fumbles

The Escanaba touchdown was scored on a pass from quarterback Bolm to fullback Judson, the play covering 11 yards. The TD capped a 56-yard drive.

Among the outstanding players in the opener against Ironwood were backs Dahlin and Manske and linemen Mongrain and Johnson.

Special attention has been devoted to handoffs and ball-carrying in practice this week. The Eskymos were seriously handicapped by seven fumbles in the opener.

Escanaba S-Ball Association Re-Elects Dufour President

Tom Dufour was re-elected president of the Escanaba Softball Association at its annual banquet at the Dells last night at which the Harnischfeger state Class A champions received special recognition.

Dufour will be serving his second term as president of the Association, Paul Vardigan was elected vice president, Wally Larson secretary, Marcel Guindon treasurer and Jens Jensen was named to the board of control. Guindon and Jensen served in the same capacities last year.

Championship trophies were awarded to Steve Rodman, manager of the St. Thomas team that won the Oldtimers League and tournament; Red Holmes, manager of Kessler's who won the National League tourney, and Bob Jensen, manager of the Dells American League champs.

McGinn Awards Trophy

Denis McGinn, who introduced softball to the Escanaba area 26 years ago and has been associated with the popular sport ever since, presented the McGinn Trophy to Harnischfeger, city tournament champion.

McGinn traced the growth of the sport from its beginning to the present and expressed the pride of Escanaba in Harnischfeger's monumental accomplishment of bringing the Michigan state championship to this community. This marks the first time in history that an Upper Peninsula team ever won the state Class A title.

George Grenholm, master of ceremonies and president of the Upper Peninsula Softball Association, warned the Escanaba Association that other U. P. communities are rapidly advancing the promotion of the sport.

Must Expand Facilities

"You must expand your softball facilities if you are to remain the No. 1 softball city in the Upper Peninsula," Grenholm told the group.

"You must also think seriously of a junior softball program so that younger players will become interested in the game and in time will be capable of replacing the veterans who are playing now," he added. Grenholm also urged the Association to better its umpire staff so that all game officials are in uniform, know the rules and regulations and work together as units.

Bill Doucette, veteran pitcher who announced his retirement after 26 years this season, was the main speaker.

Retiring Association officers were Francis Grenier, secretary, and Tom St. Germain, vice president.

Barks Host To Powers In Tri County Series

Rained out in their attempt to open the Tri County League championship playoff series last week, Bark River and Powers are scheduled to try again Sunday at 2:30 at the Bark River diamond.

The teams are scheduled to meet in a best-of-three series for the playoff title.

Both managers will throw their ace chucks Sunday. Lefty Ernie LaChapelle will grace the mound for the Barks and Ray Wells, former Powers High School athletic star, will be on the hill for Powers. Umpires will be Pat Kazda of Iron Mountain, Elmer Busick of Daggett and John Vincent of Perrenville.

Sports Writers Will Rate Teams

MENOMINEE — The Iron River Redskins, Ironwood Red Devils and Sault Ste. Marie Blue Devils were tabbed as the top teams in the Upper Peninsula this week after the first games of the season.

U. P. Sports Writers Association plans a weekly poll of teams in the peninsula, based on all games. Writers will send ratings to Jim Ripley, Herald-Leader sports editor, who will compile the standings and they will be released in U. P. papers each Thursday or Friday.

The top ten teams for the first week were: 1—Iron River, 2—Ironwood, 3—Sault Ste. Marie, 4—Manistique, 5—Stambaugh, 6—Escanaba, 7—Calumet, 8—Kingsford, 9—Marquette, 10—Munising.

The ratings are based on competition, scoring and team play. Only 14 teams have been in action thus far. Fourteen more teams will get the first taste of battle this week and by the third week of September all teams in the peninsula will be in action.

Hockey League Meet Is Set For Sunday

A preliminary organization meeting of the Northern Michigan Hockey League will be held in the Northland Hotel in Marquette this Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2, it was announced today by George

Johnson, Marquette, loop secretary.

Because Wednesday night is "light night" on TV, the Escanaba Hockey Association is contemplating moving its home game time to Sunday afternoon and Tuesday night with possibly eight games on Sunday and four on Tuesday.

Principal item of business at the league organization session Sunday will be the election of officers, discussion of the schedule, officials and consideration of new entries. Present officers are Harold Alholm, Marquette, president, and Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

Currently underway in Escanaba is a drive to raise money to purchase flashy new uniforms for this city's Upper Peninsula hockey champions. New protective equipment also must be purchased to adequately outfit the Hawks in defense of their title.

Additional improvements at the exhibition building, Hawk home ice, are being planned, and in cooperation with city officials and business leaders a larger rink is being planned for next year.

HOCKEY PICNIC CANCELLED

The public hockey picnic scheduled to have been held at Pioneer Trail Park last Sunday and which was postponed because of rain has been cancelled, the Escanaba Hockey Association announced at a meeting this noon. A smorgasbord dinner is being planned instead. Announcement concerning this event which will be highlighted by the awarding of merchandise prizes will be made tomorrow.

Johnson, Marquette, loop secretary.

Escanaba's Hawks, who rose from the cellar to capture the league championship in a sizzling series with Portage Lake, will defend their title against Marquette, Calumet and Portage Lake. It is possible that one or two more teams

Gladstone Opens Grid Season Saturday With Catholic Central Team

After four weeks of intensive practice and drills, the Gladstone Braves and Escanaba Catholic Central will have at it Saturday afternoon at the Braves' field in the first football game of the 1954 campaign. Kickoff time is at 2.

Coach Don Protenhauer has been concentrating on 14 lettermen around whom the Gladstone team has been built this year. The Braves lost 13 letter-winners through graduation.

Named today to starting berths by Protenhauer were Jim Sundalius at quarterback, Jim Bratonia and Chuck Burton at the halfbacks and Walter Houghton at fullback. In the line will be Jack Beach and John Quinn at ends, Roger Lamberg and Larry Feldt at tackles, Tom Brewer and Jerry Leander at guards and Guy Gerou at center. Chuck Farrell and Roger Carlson are slated for defensive duty.

The invading Catholic Central team, the first athletic unit to represent the new Escanaba Catholic school, is built around seven returning lettermen, four of whom were regulars last year at St. Joseph.

Coach Tom St. Germain has named the following starters: John Berrigan at quarterback, Bill Lancoeur and Bob Rodman at halfbacks and Jim Greenwood at fullback. In the Central line will be Joe Juetten and John Vadnais at ends, Jim Weber and Leroy Villeneuve at tackles, Isadore Derkos and Mike Venne at guards and Arnold Henriksen at center. Mike Goymerac will fill in on defense.

With 10 lettermen, including seven regulars, lost through graduation, the Central rebuilding job has also been a big one this year.

Catholic Central is a Class B school in enrollment, but only athletes who competed at St. Joe last year are eligible. All others are regarded as transfers and will not be eligible to compete until the second semester under the Michigan High School Athletic Association rules.

With both teams boasting good speed in the backfield the opening game is expected to produce fast action. Experience in the lines appears about evenly balanced.

Last season the teams opened the campaign with St. Joe edging the Braves 6-0 on a touchdown run by fullback Bill Mayemich.

Emeralds Seek Second Straight Football Win At Stephenson Tonight

MANISTIQUE — The Manistique Emeralds, toughened by a week of intensive tackling and blocking drills, will clash with the Stephenson Eagles tonight at Stephenson at 8:15 (CST).

It will be Manistique's second game and the first for the Eagles. Last week the Emeralds dumped Ishpeming here, 21 to 0, in a Great Lakes Conference clash.

Strength of the Eagles is still an unknown factor but their new coach, Alton Cowan, is believed to have built a rugged eleven around a substantial nucleus of experienced defense.

Work On Defense
Coach Dick Bonifas, who watched his charges trample Ishpeming behind a strong offense last week, was displeased with the showing of the Emeralds on defense.

Both tackling and blocking were spotty, and he has driven his men hard this week to correct the condition. The Emeralds looked much better by Wednesday night.

Bonifas was satisfied with the offensive action of the Emeralds against the Hematites. Total yardage netted by ground running and passes was 353. The Emeralds had 47 yards of gain nullified by penalties, and also lost an additional 45 yards the same way.

Anderson Powerhouse
Alroy Mersnick, playing his first shift at defensive end, and Robert Curley, filling the defensive left halfback slot for the first time, showed up well against Ishpeming. Jim Cowman, as signal caller, also performed well in his first try at this action. Offensively, fullback Don Anderson was a powerhouse for the Emeralds in the season opener, gaining 70 yards running, 25 yards on a kickoff return, and 25 yards after receiving a pass.

The Emeralds, with no injuries in the Ishpeming game, are in top shape physically.

The Emerald Reserves will play in Escanaba at noon Saturday.

Favor Basilio To Beat Fiore

NEW YORK — Carmen Basilio is a 1-3 favorite to beat Carmine Fiore for the second time and keep alive his chances for a welterweight title shot.

The two will meet over 10 rounds in Madison Square Garden starting at 8 p. m. CST. NBC will broadcast and telecast the bout.

Basilio, No. 1 welter contender has been virtually promised a shot at the winner of the October title fight between champion Kid Gavilan and Johnny Saxton.

The 27-year-old contender floored Gavilan while losing a split decision to the champ a year ago. That's the only defeat suffered by Basilio in his last 16 scraps.

Among the victories in that string was a ninth round technical knockout over Fiore 17 months ago.

Fiore, a 25-year old from Brooklyn, won eight in a row after that loss. He had the string snapped by Ramon Fuentes, No. 3 welterweight contender, in Los Angeles July 12.

Sailing regattas got their biggest boom during World War II. Reason: "Plenty of wind, but little gas."

BARK RIVER COACH — Ed Rutkowski is the new Bark River High School coach who will send his charges into action in the 1954 opener against Crystal Falls on Saturday afternoon. A native of Menominee, Rutkowski succeeds Tom Janssen as Bark River football, basketball, baseball and track coach.

Williams Hitless But Bosox Trim Tigers 8-0

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT — The big guy stepped to the plate, nervously tugging at his cap.

He stood there, swinging his bat, waiting for the enthusiastic applause from the small crowd of 3,897 to quiet down. Then he fled to right field, a routine out.

That was how Ted Williams, one of the greatest hitters in baseball history, bade farewell Thursday to Briggs Stadium and the Detroit Tigers. And it was a strange finish for the 36-year-old slugger of the Boston Red Sox who insists this is his last season.

Favorite Ball Park
Williams came to bat five times, and you knew he was trying for just one more home run in his favorite ball park . . . a park in which he wrote some of baseball's most colorful chapters. But the best thumper could do was three harmless fly balls and a line drive to the first baseman. The Tigers walked him once.

Yet, when he stepped up the last time, the crowd, though a sparse one, rose and gave him one of the warmest accolades heard in Briggs Stadium in many a year. It mattered little to those present that the Tigers were in the process of taking an 8-0 shellacking.

It was a costly loss for the Tigers, dropping them 2½ games behind the Sox in the battle for fourth place.

Throws Four-Hitter

Willard Nixon blanked the Tigers on four hits. Jim Piersall led Boston's attack with a two-run single and his eighth home run of the season.

Al Aber started for Detroit and wound up with his 10th loss against five wins.

The turnout yesterday boosted Tiger attendance to 1,000,133. It was the ninth time in the last 10 seasons the team passed the million figure.

The Philadelphia A's come into town today for the opener of a two-game series. George Zverink pitches for the Tigers.

Cleveland Has Just About Clinched League Pennant

By BEN PHLEGAR

Associated Press Sports Writer

The time has come to start measuring the flag pole in the Cleveland Municipal Stadium for the 1954 American League pennant.

With a 5½ game lead and only 14 games left, history is on the Indians' side. No American League team ever blew so large a lead this late in the season.

The Indians moved closer to a pennant Thursday with a 5-4 "Gift" victory over Philadelphia while the second-place New York Yankees bowed 1-0 to Baltimore on Joe Coleman's brilliant one-hitter.

10 Is Magic Number

Any combination of 10 Cleveland victories and Yankee defeats will clinch the pennant. The earliest possible date is Tuesday.

The New York Giants wasted a chance to gain a more comfortable lead in the National League. The Giants broke even in a doubleheader with the seventh-place Chicago Cubs and were lucky to get the split. It took two late rallies climaxed by a squeeze bunt with two out and the bases loaded in the ninth by Hank Thompson to pull out the first game 7-6. They never had a chance in the second game, getting only five hits while losing 3-0. Clyde McCullough drove in two of the runs, one with a homer.

The runner-up Milwaukee Braves weren't scheduled. They trail New York by four games and have 18 left. The Giants have 16 to play and Brooklyn, 5½ behind, has 15.

14 For Giants
It will take a combination of 14 New York victories and Milwaukee defeats for the Giants to clinch the flag.

Brooklyn came out of a prolonged slump with a 10-1 victory over St. Louis in the only other National League action. Washington beat Chicago 2-0 and Boston defeated Detroit 8-0 in the American League.

The winning Cleveland run scored in the 11th inning against the Athletics when Ed Bertschy walked Hal Naragon with the bases loaded. Cleveland had come from behind with two runs in the eighth and one in the ninth to send the game into extra innings.

The victory was No. 100 for Cleveland, the most won by any American League team since the 1946 Red Sox.

Bad Bounce Single
Coleman's bid for a no-hitter over the Yankees was ruined by a bad bounce single by Enos Slaughter in the eighth inning. The ball was hit to second baseman Bobby Young but it bounced high over his head just when he went to field it.

The Chicago-Washington game was the fastest of the season, lasting only 90 minutes. Each team got only three hits but two of the Washington blows off Harry Dorch were home runs, by Roy Sievers and Jim Lemon.

Boston's victory over Detroit was another well-pitched game as Willard Nixon scattered four singles. Ted Williams, at bat four times, was held hitless for the second straight game.

Buckeyes Are Lucky; Not Favored To Win

By JERRY LISKA
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State is lucky this football season. Nobody is picking his Buckeyes to win the Big Ten championship.

That's almost as much a coaching asset in this football fanatical area as suddenly finding a snappy backfield — which, incidentally, Ohio State should have this fall. Hayes will concede only a slight improvement over last year's Buckeyes who finished fourth in the conference with 4-3 and had an overall record of 6-3.

Could Be Menace
But some experts think the customary Buckeye depth behind a one-year wiser array of 10 returning regulars or near-regulars could be a distinct menace to such favorites as Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin whom Ohio State meets midseason in that order.

Aside from J. C. Caroline of Illinois and Alan Ameche of Wisconsin and Michigan State's Leroy Bolden, no other Big Ten school can match the Bucks' backfield brilliance provided by Johnny Bortone, Howie Cassidy, Bob Watkins, Dave Leggett and Jerry Harkader. Hayes also has two good sophomore fullbacks in Don Vico and Hubert Bobo.

Ohio State's line figures to be improved over last season. The ends will be handled by two veterans, co-captain Dick Brubaker, who should be one of the Big Ten's better flankers, and Dean Dugan, with sophomore Bill Michael the next best.

Jacoby Is Gone

There's a quartet of lettermen tackles available, but George Jacoby is gone and Don Swartz, back from last season, has an ailing knee. Frank Machinsky gets first call at right tackle, while Don Stoeckel and Dick Hilinski must settle in at left tackle.

The guards look strong with regular Jim Reichenbach, letterman Jerry Williams and Dale Weaver, and a powerful 245-pound sophomore, Jim Parker, close competitors.

Holdover center Ken Vargo looks like one of the best in the conference, backed by letterman Bob Thornton.

Spartan Sidelines

By ROBERT E. VOGES
EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State coach Duffy Daugherty admits that even the coaches sometimes are puzzled when it comes to assessing a football team.

"Maybe we're so close to the fire, we can't smell the smoke," Daugherty said.

"It's hard to remember from year to year just what other teams looked like before the season started.

"Some days we'll look as if we could not beat 'The Little Sisters of the Poor'. Other days we'll think we have world-beaters."

Despite the banning of the two platoon system, Michigan State still will be using platoons.

Separate offensive and defensive units, changeable each time the ball changes hands, are out of course. But MSC still will be substituting at a dizzy pace.

"We plan to use at least 33 men in every game," Daugherty said, "at least three at every position."

Michigan State will feature light, fast linemen again this season.

"We probably won't have a starter weighing over 200 pounds for the Iowa game," said line coach Don Mason.

Athletic Director Biggie Munn insists LeRoy Bolden was the "most overlooked" back in the nation when it came to All-America selections last year.

"Who else made three touchdowns each against both Ohio State and Minnesota?" Munn wanted to know.

Branoff Hurt In Practice

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan's football team, minus the services of right half Tony Branoff, surprisingly moved into defensive scrimmages Thursday after only a week and a half of training.

Branoff, rated as by far the outstanding player on Michigan's squad, was expected to be back in uniform today following a minor leg injury.

Three complete Wolverine teams ran against a reserve unit in T formation yesterday practicing a variety of plays, some were used by Washington and Army, Michigan's first two opponents.

Coach Bonnie Oosterbaan, answering rumors that this year's squad might switch to the T-formation to capitalize on the passing of quarterback Duncan McDonald, said the team will play the same single-wing formation with some T-plays mixed in.

State Bar Asked To Stress FEPC

LANSING (P)—The Michigan State Bar committee on civil liberties has urged the bar to back fair employment practices legislation.

And it recommended that the bar sponsor legislation to combat illegal arrests and detentions without warrants, an evil it said was concentrated in Wayne County.

The recommendations will be acted on at the convention of the State Bar in Grand Rapids Sept. 23.

The committee also asked a law requiring all police and sheriff departments to make a weekly report of all persons held without warrants to the courts. Where the courts find a prisoner held illegally they would be required to release him and all records of the arrest would be destroyed.

The report said that the abuses of illegal arrests "are on a statewide basis and not confined to Wayne County, but that the evils are most pronounced in that county and have attained somewhat the status of custom."

A report of the State Bar committee on criminal jurisprudence recommended that the bar support a change in the law to permit the parole of those sentenced to life terms for first degree murder after they had served 20 years. Parole is now denied first degree murderers.

Insurance Agents Visitors Here On Great Lakes Cruise

About 400 persons, insurance agents and home office personnel of the Great Southern Life Insurance Co., were in Escanaba this morning for a stop here on a Great Lakes cruise aboard the S. S. South American.

The agents from four states, Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas, were awarded the cruise trip in recognition of their outstanding work for their company. They were greeted here by members of the Escanaba Insurance Agents Association on the arrival at municipal dock of the cruise ship at 9:30 this morning.

The ship arrived here from Mackinac Island and cleared shortly before noon for Chicago and the end of the cruise.

The S. S. South American will return here on Sept. 13 on another cruise stop. She will be here from 7 to 11 p. m.

Ship Fraud Deal Case Is Dropped

WASHINGTON (P)—A federal judge has thrown out indictments against former Democratic Rep. Joseph E. Casey of Massachusetts and four associates on charges of conspiring to defraud the government in multimillion dollar post World War II surplus ship deals.

Judge Luther W. Youngdahl harked back to the Shipping Act of 1916 in finding Thursday that Casey and his associates gained immunity from prosecution on this score when they testified two years ago before a federal grand jury.

Judge Youngdahl held that a clause in the law bars prosecution of persons who testify before grand juries during investigations of alleged violations of the Shipping Act.

Cleared with Casey were Robert W. Dudley, Casey's brother-in-law; Joseph H. Rosenbaum, Dudley's law partner; Harold O. Becker of New York and Nicholas Cokkins, a Greek shipping official.

The alleged conspiracy to defraud the government grew out of the purchase and later transfer of some 18 million dollars worth of surplus government-built vessels.

The government charged the ships were transferred illegally to alien control without consent of the Maritime Commission or its successor agency, the Maritime Administration.

Dead Man Comes To Life In Hearse At Long Beach, Calif.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (P)—"They said I was dead," Harry Apperson Jones, 67, grinned, "but you can't prove it by me."

Jones was recovering in Veterans Hospital today. Nine days ago he was pronounced dead, only to come to life again in a hearse en route to a mortuary.

Jones blacked out in the garage of his San Gabriel home—"that's all I remember really." An inhalator squad failed to revive him and a doctor said he was dead.

But when the hearse attendants saw the blanket over Jones moving, they changed their course for an emergency hospital. Oxygen pulled him through although he was in a coma for two days.

He was charged with failure to yield the right of way. The dog was unhurt.

Pollution Cited At Milwaukee

CHICAGO (P)—The president of the Chicago Sanitary District has been authorized to seek legal action against Milwaukee in the fight over diversion of Lake Michigan water.

A resolution adopted by the district board Thursday empowers Anthony A. Olis, to confer with Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois about legal action, possibly a writ, designed to block Milwaukee's alleged pollution of Lake Michigan.

The resolution recited that the residents of Chicago draw their drinking water from the lake, have spent 400 million dollars to protect it from pollution and added that "certain cities on the Great Lakes, notably Milwaukee, Wis., have inadequate sewage disposal systems and consistently pollute the waters."

Olis blamed interests in Milwaukee for influencing President Eisenhower's veto of a bill to in-

Grouse Hunting To Be Spotty

LANSING (P)—Pheasant hunting will be better than last year, rabbit and duck hunting will be at least as good, and grouse hunting will be off, Conservation Department game men said Thursday.

On the basis of counts by rural mail carriers and staff data, the department estimated hunters will probably kill more than the 1,000,000 pheasants harvested last year.

The pheasant, most popular game bird in the state, is most plentiful in the Thumb and Ottawa counties.

Ducks raised in Michigan are not as plentiful as last year because of an unfavorable breeding season. But an increased migration of ducks from Canada is expected to make up the local deficiency.

Only moderately good hunting for sharp-shinned grouse is predicted in the Upper Peninsula. Prairie chickens, once plentiful, are apparently confined to only two known colonies near Sault Ste. Marie. Neither of these birds may be hunted this year in the Lower Peninsula.
